WELCOME LETTER - CEO

Hello Zayoite,

Welcome to Zayo! You are part of a remarkable global team. We believe each employee contributes directly to Zayo's growth and success, and we hope you take pride in being part of the Zayo community.

Zayoites are among the most innovative, entrepreneurial and passionate people in the industry. We connect great people to create network solutions for customers and extend their network reach as their businesses evolve. New technologies, more data and changing consumer expectations mean an even greater reliance on the connections that we make possible. We're expanding all the time—providing new mission-critical routes for customers, more density, additional diversity and reduced latency. We are laying the foundation for our 5G future, artificial intelligence, and beyond.

As we work diligently toward connecting the world to create the most trusted brand, recognized for quality, performance and customer service, we must always empower each other to do what is right.

Our culture is ambitious and collaborative. We are centered on excellence and exceeding customer expectations through high performance, big ideas and a growth mindset.

Zayo strives to provide a work environment that is conducive to the personal and professional growth of its employees. This Employee Handbook was developed to outline some of the benefits, programs and policies for Zayo U.S. employees. Please read it carefully and refer back to it as needed.

In every decision we face, we should make preserving our culture, values, operating norms and lawful business performance our highest priority. By understanding and applying the information in the Handbook, you make a deliberate choice to advance our commitment to integrity while making a real contribution to our future success.

Let us all continue our commitment to protect and strengthen Zayo's reputation for integrity and uphold the standards set forth. We hope your experience at Zayo is challenging, enjoyable and rewarding—let's WIN TOGETHER!

Steve Smith
CEO

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT / LEGAL DISCLAIMER

This Employee Handbook ("Handbook") is designed to acquaint you with Zayo Group, LLC ("Zayo" or "The Company") and to provide you with information about the terms and conditions of your employment with Zayo. For purposes of this Handbook, the term Zayo shall include any applicable Zayo affiliate.

The Handbook also includes certain rules and policies governing your employment with Zayo. Please read the Handbook carefully and if you do not understand anything contained herein, please ask questions of your manager or Zayo People & Culture ("P&C"). All Zayo employees are obligated to comply with the provisions of this Handbook and acknowledge that violation of Zayo policy may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

Zayo reserves the right to revise, supplement, or rescind any of the provisions of the Handbook at any time as it deems appropriate in its sole and absolute discretion. Employees will be notified of policy changes when they take effect.

Your relationship with Zayo is that of an employee-at-will. Your job status does not guarantee employment for any specific length of time. Your employment with Zayo is entered into voluntarily and both you and Zayo are free to end the employment relationship at any time, for any reason, with or without cause or advance notice. Your employment at-will status with Zayo may be altered only with written authorization by the Chief Executive Officer of Zayo.

This Handbook is not intended to be and is not a contract, nor does it otherwise create any legally enforceable obligations on the part of Zayo. Statements on any Company documents or by any Manager of Zayo, DO NOT constitute or imply an employment contract and SHOULD NOT be relied upon by any applicant or employee as permanent employment.

This Handbook supersedes any previous employee handbook or policy manual that Zayo previously provided to you and no written or verbal communication made by any employee or manager of Zayo may adjust, override, or supersede the terms of this Handbook. However, this Handbook shall not be deemed an employment contract.

CHAPTER ONE: General Information About Employment

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE COMPANY

Zayo Group, LLC is a leading global communications infrastructure platform, delivering a range of solutions, including fiber & transport, packet and managed edge services. Zayo owns and operates a Tier 1 IP backbone spanning 134,000 miles across North America and Europe. By providing this mission-critical bandwidth to its category-leading customers across the wireless, hyperscale, media, tech and finance industries, Zayo is fueling the innovations that are transforming society.

Our journey is guided by an aspirational vision for connectivity. Our founders were veterans of the companies that constructed the earliest backbone of the Internet. They understood that truly putting “the world” on the World Wide Web would require connections, lots of them. In 2007, Zayo Group formed with a vision of accumulating, connecting and optimizing an unparalleled global network of networks. With over 48 successful acquisitions to date, we not only know what to buy and where, we know how to connect and harmonize. We knew that data capture and processing technologies would evolve rapidly and demand for data transmission would multiply exponentially along with it.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

Zayo is thoroughly committed both to providing equal employment opportunity for all job applicants and employees and to providing a work environment that is free from illegal harassment, discrimination and retaliation. It is the policy of Zayo to make all employment decisions based on the individual applicants and employee’s merit, skills, qualifications and abilities. Zayo is an equal employment opportunity employer and does not discriminate against any person because of race, color, creed, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age, genetic information, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity or gender expression, citizenship status, military service or veteran status, pregnancy, caregiver status, childbirth and related medical conditions, or any other characteristic protected by federal, state, or local laws and ordinances (referred to as a “Protected Characteristic”). This Equal Employment Policy extends to all terms, conditions and privileges of employment as well as the use of all Company facilities, participation in all Company-sponsored activities, and all employment actions, such as hiring, employing, training, promotions, compensation, benefit, discipline and termination of employment.

In addition, Zayo will take Affirmative Action (“AA”) to further the principles of Equal Employment Opportunity. This means the Company’s goal is to utilize people of color, women, disabled and other covered veterans at all levels of the workforce. Zayo develops affirmative action plans and makes good faith efforts to reach affirmative action goals. For more information, contact HR@zayo.com.

Each manager, department, division, and group within the Company will:

- Encourage and assist qualified protected-class employees to seek advancement opportunities;
- Make good faith efforts to achieve affirmative action goals through sound hiring and promotion practices;
- Create and maintain a work environment in which all employees are fully aware of the Company's EEO/AA policies;
- Be alert and ready to correct inequalities regarding job assignments, training or any other opportunities which are not based on individual qualifications and performance and business need;
- Be accountable for maintaining a work environment free of discrimination or unlawful harassment;
- Enhance the Company's relationships with the diverse communities in which it operates by striving to earn respect for the Company through positive accomplishments around affirmative action.

Employees who violate the EEO/AA policy may be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

Zayo will make reasonable accommodations for qualified individuals with known disabilities who make a request for accommodation, unless doing so would result in an undue hardship. Disabled employees who require reasonable accommodation must contact benefits@zayo.com.

Zayo will make reasonable accommodations for an individual who has sincerely held religious beliefs or practices conflicting with the job, work schedule, with Zayo's policy or practice on dress and appearance, or with other aspects of employment. Employees seeking a religious accommodation must contact hr@zayo.com.

Harassment

One of our marketplace strengths is the diversity of our workforce and our goal is to foster and sustain it. It is our policy to maintain a work environment, which encourages mutual respect, promotes respectful relationships free from all forms of discrimination and conduct that can be considered harassing, coercive, or disruptive.

Behaviors that create an intimidating, threatening, or insulting environment for another person will not be tolerated. Engaging in such conduct may be the basis for disciplinary action, up to and including termination. In keeping with this commitment, all Zayo employees are responsible for assuring that the workplace is free from discrimination, harassment, and/or violence by promptly raising good faith concerns about possible violations.

Harassment may take many forms, but most commonly includes the following:

Verbal harassment such as jokes, epithets, slurs and unwelcome remarks about an individual's body, dress, clothing, color, physical appearance, or talents, derogatory comments, questions about a person's sexual preference or practices and/or patronizing terms or remarks.

Physical harassment such as physical interference with normal work, impeding or blocking movement, assault, unwelcome physical contact or touching, staring, and threatening, intimidating or hostile acts that relate to a protected characteristic or are made due to an individual's protected characteristic.

Visual harassment such as offensive or obscene photographs, emails, posters, cards, cartoons, drawing, gestures, displays with sexually suggestive or lewd objects, unwelcome letters or notes, or any other graphic materials that denigrates or shows hostility or aversion towards an individual because of the individual's protected characteristic.

Sexual Harassment

Sexual harassment occurs when the submission to or rejection of unwelcome sexual conduct by an individual is used as a basis for employment decisions affecting that individual. Unlawful conduct includes threats and demands to submit to sexual requests as a condition of continued employment or offer of benefits in return for sexual favors.

Sexual harassment also occurs when unwelcome sexual conduct unreasonably interferes with an individual's job performance or creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work environment. Sexual harassment includes verbal harassment, physical harassment and unwanted sexual advances. Sexual harassment includes harassment of women by men, men by women, and gender-based harassment of individuals of the same sex as the harasser.

Obligation to Raise Concerns / Open Door Process

Zayo depends on its employees to raise questions or concerns so the Company can take appropriate action. Employees who experience or witness conduct that may violate these policies must report the conduct immediately to his or her supervisor, any member of management, Legal, HR@zayo.com or Zayo's Ethics & Compliance Helpline (www.zayo.ethicspoint.com).

Zayo takes all claims of harassment, discrimination, violence, or retaliation seriously and reports will be reviewed promptly and investigated where appropriate. To the extent possible, an employee's confidentiality and that of any witnesses and/or participants will be protected against unnecessary disclosure. Communications will be made to others only on a limited "need to know" basis.

Any employee who becomes aware of any potential violation of these policies must report it immediately so it can be investigated in a timely and confidential manner.

Anti-Retaliation

Zayo is committed to maintaining a work environment that is free of harassment, intimidation, retaliation and discrimination. Crucial to these objectives is promoting an atmosphere where employees feel safe to engage in frank, honest communication—raising questions or concerns at any time without fear of retaliation. Zayo strictly prohibits any form of retaliatory action against employees in retaliation for raising issues, making reports, participating in an investigation, refusing to participate in suspected improper or wrongful activity, or exercising workplace rights protected by law (in each case “Protected Activity”).

Zayo takes all claims of retaliation very seriously. All allegations of violations of this policy will be quickly and discreetly investigated. To the extent possible, an employee’s confidentiality and that of any witnesses and the alleged harasser will be protected against unnecessary disclosure. Communications will be made to others only on a limited "need to know" basis.

If you feel you have experienced or observed a violation of this anti-retaliation policy, report the incident immediately to your supervisor, any member of management, Legal, HR@zayo.com or Zayo’s Ethics & Compliance Helpline (www.zayo.ethicspoint.com).

DIVERSITY, EQUITY, INCLUSION & BELONGING (DEIB)

Zayo's DEIB Program is devoted to intentionally fostering a culture of inclusivity, open communication, creativity and belonging. We will achieve this by driving performance for better business outcomes, and addressing the unique challenges of underrepresented / underestimated groups. We welcome you to learn more about how to become involved with Zayo’s Employee Resource Groups (ERGs) and Affinity groups on zHub.

IMMIGRATION LAW COMPLIANCE

Zayo is committed to employing only individuals who are authorized to work in the United States and does not unlawfully discriminate on the basis of national origin.

In compliance with the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, each new employee, as a condition of employment, must complete the Employment Eligibility Verification Form I-9 and present documentation establishing identity and employment eligibility. Former employees who are rehired may also be required to complete the form. Zayo uses E-Verify to confirm identity and eligibility to work in the United States.

Employees with questions or seeking more information on immigration law issues are encouraged to contact HR@zayo.com. Employees may raise questions or complaints about immigration law compliance without fear of reprisal.

PRE-EMPLOYMENT QUALIFICATIONS

If your position requires additional pre-employment qualifications, such as a driver's examination, a background investigation, and/or a pre-employment drug test, and if you have been offered employment before any such investigation or test is completed, your employment is contingent upon a satisfactory result on all required tests, regardless of whether you have already begun working for Zayo.

PROBLEM RESOLUTION

If a situation occurs in which you believe that a condition of employment or a decision affecting you is not consistent with the terms and provisions of this Handbook, you are strongly encouraged to bring such issue to Human Resources' attention using the same procedure described in the Equal Opportunity Policy summarized above.

Not every problem can be resolved to everyone's total satisfaction, but only through understanding and discussion of mutual problems can employees and management develop confidence in each other. This confidence is important to the operation of an efficient and harmonious work environment.

CHAPTER TWO: Employment and Work Performance

EMPLOYMENT CLASSIFICATION

Employees are classified in various ways, as set forth below. Employees should contact HR@zayo.com if they have any questions regarding their classification.

By the Number of Hours Worked

Regular Full-Time Employees are not in a temporary status and are regularly scheduled to work at least thirty (30) hours per workweek. Full-time employees are eligible for Zayo's benefits package (subject to the terms, conditions, and limitations of each benefit program) if they regularly work thirty (30) or more hours per week.

Regular Part-Time Employees are not in a temporary status and are regularly scheduled to work less than thirty (30) hours per week. If a particular part-time employee works thirty (30) or more hours in any given week, this does not change the employee's status unless his or her regular schedule is also changed. Part-time employees may not be eligible for most Zayo-sponsored benefits, except as noted in this Handbook or in the specific policies or as otherwise required by law.

By Eligibility for Overtime

Exempt Employees are generally executives, managers, professional, administrative, or outside sales staff who are exempt from the minimum wage and overtime provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA). Exempt employees hold jobs that are often irregular and begin and end beyond the normal workday. These jobs meet the standards and criteria established under the FLSA by the U.S. Department of Labor.

Non-Exempt Employees are employees whose work is covered by the FLSA. They are not exempt from the law's requirements concerning minimum wage and overtime and are required to record all hours worked.

Non-exempt employees are expected to confine their work to the normally scheduled day and work week unless overtime is authorized in advance by their supervisor. Non-exempt employees will receive overtime pay for all hours worked more than forty (40) per week. Daily overtime rules may apply in certain states. Zayo does not offer compensatory time off in lieu of pay.

By Length of Employment

Regular Employees are those hired for an indefinite and unspecified duration.

Regular employees, whether full-time or part-time, are at-will employees.

Temporary Employees are those who are hired as interim replacements, to temporarily supplement the workforce, or to assist in the completion of a specific project. Employment assignments in this category are of a limited and specific duration. Employment beyond any initially stated period does not in any way imply a change in employment status. Temporary employees retain that status unless and until notified of a formal change initiated by Human Resources. Temporary Employees, whether full-time or part-time, may not be eligible for most Zayo-sponsored benefits, except as noted in this Handbook or in the specific policies or as otherwise required by law.

Temporary Employees, whether full-time or part-time, are at-will employees.

Interns are those enrolled in an educational program who receive training and experience for their educational benefit. Employment assignments in this category are of a limited and specific duration. Employment beyond any initially stated period does not in any way imply a change in employment status. Interns retain that status unless and until notified of a formal change initiated by Human Resources. Interns, whether full-time or part-time, may not be eligible for most Zayo-sponsored benefits, except as noted in this Handbook or in the specific policies or as otherwise required by law.

Interns, whether full-time or part-time, are at-will employees.

Continuous Service Date / Seniority Date

To have a record of an employee's benefits, a continuous service date will be maintained for each employee. The continuous service date will be the employee's first day of employment with Zayo or acquisition and will continue uninterrupted if the employee remains a full-time or part-time employee at The Company. An employee's service date will be adjusted due to breaks in service of less than 12 months in duration. A break of over 12 months in duration will result in the continuous service date restarting upon the rehire date.

PERSONNEL FILES

Zayo maintains a personnel file for each employee. Personnel files are subject to Zayo's Document Retention Policy.

Employees who wish to review their own file should contact their HRBP or HR@zayo.com. With reasonable advance written notice, employees may review their own personnel files in Zayo's offices and in the presence of a member of Human Resources or their designee. The employee will be entitled to see any records used to determine his or her qualification for employment, promotion or wage increases and any records used for disciplinary purposes. Employees may not remove any items from the file. Employees will be allowed to have a copy of any document they have signed relating to their employment. Employees may add to the file their version of any disputed item.

Generally, only managers and management personnel of Zayo who have a legitimate business reason to review information in a file are allowed to do so.

PERSONNEL/PERSONAL DATA CHANGES

It is the responsibility of each employee to verify that their employment data is correct at all times during employment and promptly notify Zayo of any changes in their own personal data. Personal mailing addresses, telephone numbers, number and names of dependents, emergency contacts, email address, social security number updates, educational accomplishment, serious driving infractions, felony/misdemeanor convictions or charges that may affect your ability to perform the responsibilities of your job. If any personal data has changed, it is the employee's responsibility to make changes directly to the HRIS system (Workday) or notify HR@zayo.com.

EMPLOYMENT VERIFICATIONS

All employment inquiries and employment verifications must be directed to The Work Number. The Work Number will respond to Verification of Employment (VOE) and Verification of Income (VOI) requests. Employee consent will be required for all VOI requests. Please contact HR@zayo.com for additional information.

CHAPTER THREE: Business Hours, Work Schedule and Compensation

WORK HOURS

The Company's regular business hours are 8am to 5pm, Monday-Friday. However, some department or field office schedules may vary due to business needs. Managers will advise employees of scheduled start/end time to include expectations of scheduled break(s) and/or lunch periods as appropriate. Employees are expected back at their workstation ready to begin work at the end of each scheduled break and/or lunch period.

Managers are expected to use discretion for staffing needs and operational demands that may necessitate variations in starting and ending times, as well as variations in the total hours that may be scheduled each day and week.

Our zCollaborate philosophy allows flexible work requests (i.e., a request to commence the work day between 7:00AM and 9:00AM and conclude the work day between 3:30PM and 6:00PM) to be reviewed on a case-by-case basis and may be approved at the manager/segment discretion. For extended or indefinite flextime requests, employees must first discuss possible flextime arrangements with their manager and then submit a written request. The manager will approve or deny the flextime request based on staffing needs as well as the employee's job duties and work performance. Employees working a flextime schedule will be required to meet the same performance standards as regularly-scheduled employees and to maintain reliable attendance.

For Non-Exempt employees, all overtime must be approved in advance by the employee's manager. Non-Exempt employees are required to accurately record all time worked, even when on a flextime schedule. Exempt employees working a flextime schedule are expected to be at work during their scheduled flextime hours, but are expected to work the hours necessary to complete their job regardless of their set flextime schedule. Once a flextime schedule is approved, the employee is expected to work that schedule on a regular basis, until given written permission by his or her manager to depart from the flextime schedule. Management, in its sole discretion, may require employees to return to a standard schedule or otherwise modify an existing flextime arrangement, at any time, for any reason or no reason, with or without notice.

BREAKS / MEAL PERIODS

It is the policy of Zayo to comply with state and federal laws regarding meals and breaks. Managers are responsible for the scheduling of meal and rest periods. Employees who fail to return on time from breaks or lunch will be subject to disciplinary action and docking of pay for time missed.

Rest periods

All employees are permitted a 15-minute paid rest break for each four-hour work period. Breaks are not permitted at either the beginning or end of the workday to offset arrival and departure times. Employees who voluntarily work through their rest breaks will not be paid additional compensation.

Meal periods

All non-exempt employees who work eight or more hours in a day are required to take an unpaid meal break of 30 minutes. Meal breaks are not counted toward hours worked. Employees are to be completely relieved from duty during their meal break. If a nonexempt employee is required to perform any work duties while on his or her meal break period, the employee must be compensated for the time spent performing work duties. The time spent working during the meal break will be counted toward the total hours worked.

WORK LOCATIONS (zCollaborate)

Zayo enjoys a global, flexible work environment that has redesigned our relationship with work. It extends our workplace philosophy around consistency and flexibility while also offering the benefits of connecting and engaging in-person to meet the needs of our customer base. Our zCollaborate strategy focuses on purpose-driven collaboration time and allows for in-office, remote and hybrid work arrangements based on the nature of the work and customer segment employees serve.

zCollaborate represents our integrated approach to in-office, hybrid and remote work as it represents our day to day interactions with one another.

TIMEKEEPING FOR NON-EXEMPT EMPLOYEES

Accurately recording time worked and time off is the responsibility of every non-exempt employee. Federal and state laws require Zayo to keep an accurate record of time worked in order to calculate employee pay and benefits.

Non-exempt employees should accurately record the time they begin and end their work, as well as the beginning and ending time of each meal period. They also should record the beginning and ending time of any split shift or departure from work for personal reasons.

Altering, falsifying, tampering with time records, or recording time on another employee's time record may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

It is also a serious violation of Company policy for any employee or manager to instruct another employee to incorrectly or falsely report hours. If any manager or employee instructs you to: 1) incorrectly or falsely under- or over-report your hours worked; or 2) alter another employee's time records to inaccurately or falsely report that employee's hours worked, you should report it immediately to your manager or HRBP.

OVERTIME FOR NON-EXEMPT EMPLOYEES

From time to time, non-exempt employees may be asked to work reasonable amounts of overtime due to the workload and the nature of Zayo's business. When it is necessary to work overtime, as a condition of employment, employees are expected to cooperate. When possible, advance notification of these mandatory assignments will be provided.

Employees are not permitted to commence work before their scheduled starting times or continue to work after their scheduled quitting time without first obtaining written approval from the manager of their department.

Overtime compensation is paid to all nonexempt employees in accordance with federal and state wage and hour laws. Overtime pay is based on actual hours worked. Time off on PTO, holiday, or any leave of absence will not be considered hours worked for purposes of determining overtime compensation unless otherwise required by state, local or federal law.

ATTENDANCE AND PUNCTUALITY

Regular and consistent attendance is expected and required of all employees. Employees must report to work on time. You are also expected to take your lunch/meal times within the time limits set by your manager.

In the rare instances when employees cannot avoid being late to work or are unable to work as scheduled, employees should notify their manager as soon as possible in advance of the anticipated tardiness or absence. If you are going to miss work because you are going to be late or you or a family member is sick, you must notify your manager before the time you are to report for work. Your manager will advise you of an alternative person to contact if he or she is unavailable.

If you do not inform either your manager or his or her designated alternative, your tardiness or absence will be considered an unapproved, unscheduled absence. If you fail to notify your manager after three (3) business days of consecutive absences, you will be considered to have abandoned your job and your employment will be terminated.

Excessive absence is a serious performance problem. Excessive absence or failure to report absences or tardiness in a timely fashion will lead to disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

INCLEMENT WEATHER / EMERGENCY OFFICE CLOSURE

In the event of inclement weather, our practice is to keep the Company open for business as usual. The decision to close an individual office is the sole discretion of each location's manager. If there is any question regarding hours of work during severe weather conditions, employees are responsible for contacting their supervisor or the office regarding opening and closing hours.

While we expect all employees to make a determined effort to reach the work site or office, even if they are late, each employee should decide whether it is safe to travel to and from work. In fairness to those who overcome transportation or other difficulties and report to work, absences or tardiness will be counted as Personal Time (PTO) or Flexible Time Off (FTO), as applicable, for those who do not come in and cannot temporarily work remotely during the closure. Or, for partial days worked, increments of PTO or FTO utilized. If PTO or FTO is unavailable, the time will be unpaid.

PAY FOR PERFORMANCE

To reinforce Zayo's pay for performance culture, we will conduct an annual performance review and a merit increase cycle. By evaluating employee performance on an annual basis and providing salary increases that align to contributions and performance ratings, this supports internal equity amongst Zayoites. Zayo believes in a system that rewards top performers.

Promotions

Promotional opportunities are a key element of Zayo's compensation philosophy. Promotions are based upon three criteria 1) a meaningful increase to the scope of a role 2) business need for the higher level role and 3) the individual employees' readiness for the larger role. Employees may be eligible to receive a promotional opportunity at the complete and sole discretion of Zayo.

LACTATION ACCOMMODATION

Zayo will provide break time to employees who desire to express breast milk. If possible, for non-exempt employees, this break time will run concurrently with rest and meal periods already provided to the employee. If the break time cannot run concurrently with rest and meal periods already provided to the employee, the break time will be unpaid. Zayo will make reasonable efforts to provide employees who wish to express milk with the use of a room or other location for the employee to express milk in private.

PAYDAYS

Employees are paid semi-monthly on the 15th and last day of the month via direct deposit into your designated checking or savings account(s). Each payroll cycle will include earnings for all work performed through the end of the previous payroll period. Pay stubs can be accessed online through the HRIS system and the payroll schedule can be obtained from payroll@zayo.com.

REVIEW YOUR PAYCHECK

Zayo makes every effort to ensure employees are paid correctly. Occasionally, however, inadvertent mistakes can happen. When mistakes do happen and are called to our attention, we will promptly make any corrections necessary. Please review your paycheck when you receive it to make sure it is correct. If you believe there is a mistake or you have any questions, contact payroll@zayo.com so corrections can be made as quickly as possible.

In the event that Zayo mistakenly overpays an employee, Zayo reserves the right to recover such an amount from the employee through payroll deductions or personal check as permitted by law.

DIRECT DEPOSIT

Zayo offers direct deposit for regular paychecks. You are able to add or change payment elections (direct deposit) at any time through your Workday profile. Please allow up to two pay periods for any changes to take effect.

PAY DEDUCTIONS AND GARNISHMENTS

Federal and state laws require deductions from employee paychecks for: (1) federal income tax; (2) applicable state and local taxes; (3) social security taxes up to a specified annual limit; and (4) deductions required by collective bargaining agreements, such as union dues. Other voluntary deductions may be made from an employee's paycheck with the employee's prior written authorization.

Garnishments are court orders requiring an employer to withhold specified amounts from an employee's wages for payment of a debt owed by the employee to a third party. Federal and State law requires the Company to honor garnishments of employee wages, including child support, tax liens or as a court or other legal judgment may instruct.

If you have questions concerning why deductions were made from your paycheck or how they were calculated, please contact Payroll at payroll@zayo.com.

BUSINESS TRAVEL & ENTERTAINMENT EXPENSE

For positions requiring business travel and expense reimbursement handling, please refer to the Company Travel & Expense Policy for:

- Cardholder User Agreement / Card Issuance and Activation
- Lost or Stolen Cards / Disputed or Fraudulent Charges
- Card Limit & Usage Expectations / Expense Reporting
- Business Travel, Meals/Entertainment Expectations & Limits
- Cell Phone Reimbursement Policy

TRAVEL TIME

The principles which apply in determining whether time spent in travel is compensable time depends upon the kind of travel involved. Excluding normal commuting time, the general rule is that employees should be compensated for all travel unless it is overnight and outside regular working hours as outlined under the FLSA. Employees who travel overseas are not covered by the FLSA while working outside the USA. If an employee believes the travel will be subject to the above conditions and compensable, the employee should work with the employee's manager and HRBP to create a travel approval plan.

PAY ADVANCES

Zayo does not provide pay advances on unearned wages to employees.

CHAPTER FOUR: Responsibilities and Standards of Conduct

OUTSIDE EMPLOYMENT

Zayo expects an employee's best efforts and full loyalty in the performance of his or her job duties, whether the employee is a full-time, part-time, temporary employee, or an intern. Nonetheless, employees may engage in outside employment, including self-employment, under the following conditions:

Outside employment that constitutes a conflict of interest is strictly prohibited.

If an employee believes that he or she can meet Zayo's performance standards while holding another job, and an employee wants to obtain outside employment, including self-employment and contract work, the employee is required to notify Human Resources in writing. Human Resources will advise the employee in writing of any possible conflict of interest that the activity may pose.

Outside employment shall not be conducted during the employee's regularly scheduled hours, unless the employee obtains the prior written approval from their Segment leader and HRBP.

Outside employment shall not be conducted on Zayo premises, or entail use of Zayo property or services, unless the employee obtains the prior written approval from their Segment leader and HRBP.

All employees will be judged by the same performance standards and will be subject to Zayo's scheduling and business demands, regardless of any existing outside work requirements.

Zayo reserves the right to limit the number of hours employees may work in outside employment, or to prohibit outside employment, whenever it legally determines that an employee's outside work interferes with the employee's performance or Zayo's business requirements.

Provided such service is otherwise in compliance with these policies, a Zayo employee may serve on one for profit external board of directors. An employee may serve on more than one for profit external board of directors only with the written (including email) approval of the Zayo CEO.

STANDARDS OF CONDUCT AND DISCIPLINARY ACTION

Each employee has an obligation to comply with Zayo's policies and maintain proper standards of conduct at all times. If an employee's behavior interferes with the orderly and efficient operations of the Company, disciplinary action may be taken or conduct considered inappropriate may trigger a review by a manager or Human Resources. This may include a verbal warning, written warning, suspension with or without pay, or termination of employment. Zayo does not guarantee that one form of action will necessarily precede another. Zayo reserves the right to determine what disciplinary action is appropriate, based on the facts and circumstances of each situation. Zayo does not have a policy of "progressive discipline" and is not required to treat each form of discipline as a step in a series to be followed with an employee before termination.

COMPANY WORK RULES

As an employee of the Company, it is essential you adhere to the following standards:

- For security/safety reasons, visitors must check in with reception or management and be escorted by an employee while on Company property. All visitors are required to comply with safety regulations while on Company premises. Minors should never be left unattended on Company premises.
- Personal property brought into the location must be left in an area designated by the supervisor until the employee departs. All packages are subject to inspection by management and the Company is not liable for lost or stolen items.
- All employees should be concerned with the care and safe use of Company-owned equipment and facilities. Good housekeeping is expected of every employee.
- Employees must park in designated parking areas and refrain from parking in unauthorized areas. Employees should always keep vehicles secured. The Company is not liable for loss or damage to personal vehicles while on Company property.

The following actions are cause for corrective action, up to and including termination, including but not limited to:

- Violation of safety policies or procedures.
- Fighting on company premises, or making threats of violence to Company employees, customers, vendors, or visitors.
- Failing to comply with the Company's standards of courtesy and customer service.
- Unsatisfactory work performance or work not meeting the Company's standards for quality or quantity of work.
- Insubordination or refusing to follow instructions issued by a member of management.
- Leaving Company premises during working hours without permission of your supervisor.
- Interfering with or disrupting other employees during working hours.
- Committing acts of dishonesty towards the Company or its customers, other employees, vendors, or visitors, or committing acts which tend to bring the Company into disrepute.
- Falsification of Company records.
- Defacing, mishandling, borrowing/loaning, or theft of Company property or equipment or an employee's property.
- Gambling or contests on Company premises.
- Committing any act which is detrimental to the orderly conduct of business.

ALCOHOL AND DRUG-FREE WORKPLACE POLICY

It is Zayo's desire to provide a drug-free, healthful, and safe workplace. To promote this goal, employees are required to report to work in appropriate mental and physical condition to perform their jobs in a safe and satisfactory manner.

While on Zayo's premises and while conducting business-related activities on or off Zayo's premises, no employee may use, possess, distribute, sell, or be under the influence of alcohol or illegal drugs.

Zayo recognizes that certain social events may be conducted on the premises or at business functions at which alcohol may be provided. The moderate and limited use of alcohol by an employee of legal drinking age is acceptable at such events. Employees are expected to remain responsible, professional and sober at all times. At all other times, consumption of alcohol is prohibited. Employees are responsible to ensure that any guest also complies with the terms of this Policy.

The legal use of prescribed drugs is permitted on the job only if it does not impair an employee's ability to perform the essential functions of the job effectively and in a safe manner that does not endanger other individuals in the workplace.

Employees with questions or concerns about substance dependence or abuse are encouraged to use the resources of the Employee Assistance Program (EAP) at 833-322-1931 or modernhealth.helpwhereyouare.com and enter Zayo. They may also wish to discuss these matters with their manager or benefits@zayo.com to receive assistance or referrals to appropriate resources in the community.

Employees with drug or alcohol problems that have not resulted in, and are not the immediate subject of, disciplinary action may request approval to take unpaid time off to participate in a rehabilitation or treatment program. Leave may be granted if the employee agrees to abstain from use of the problem substance; abides by all Zayo policies, rules, and prohibitions relating to conduct in the workplace; and if granting the leave will not cause Zayo any undue hardship.

Several states now permit the medicinal and recreational use of marijuana. Notwithstanding, marijuana is illegal under federal law and no employee may use, possess, distribute, sell, or be under the influence of marijuana while on Zayo's premises and while conducting business-related activities on or off Zayo's premise.

Under the Drug-Free Workplace Act, an employee who performs work for a government contract or grant must notify Zayo of a criminal conviction for drug-related activity occurring in the workplace. The report must be made within five days of the conviction.

Employees with questions on this policy or issues related to drug or alcohol use in the workplace should raise their concerns with their manager or Human Resources without fear of reprisal.

TOBACCO-FREE POLICY

In keeping with Zayo's intent to provide a healthy, comfortable and safe work environment, the use of tobacco products, including e-cigarettes, is prohibited throughout Zayo's premises and in company vehicles whether owned or leased. All employees, customers, vendors and visitors are required to adhere to this policy. Tobacco use is also prohibited at offsite meetings and at customer locations.

WORKPLACE SAFETY

Zayo is committed to providing a safe and healthy work environment for employees, customers, and visitors. Each employee is expected to obey safety rules and to exercise caution in all work activities. Employees must immediately report any unsafe condition to their immediate manager and/or Human Resources. Reports and concerns about workplace safety issues may be made anonymously if the employee wishes. All reports can be made without fear of reprisal.

Some of the best safety improvement ideas come from employees. Those with ideas, concerns, or suggestions for improved safety in the workplace are encouraged to raise them with their manager or with another manager.

Workplace Violence Prevention

Zayo is committed to maintaining a safe work environment and to preventing workplace violence. Zayo has adopted the following guidelines to deal with intimidation, harassment, or other threats of (or actual) physical or other violence that may occur during business hours or on Company premises:

Employees must refrain from conduct that may be dangerous or threatening to others, including but not limited to fighting, "horseplay," belligerent speech, vulgar or abusive language, or arguing.

Employees must not engage in any conduct that threatens, intimidates or coerces another employee, customer, vendor, or any member of the public, including harassment that is based on an individual's actual or perceived sex, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity, transgender, color, race, religion, age, or any other characteristic protected by federal, state, or local law.

Employees must report all threats of (or actual) violence, both direct and indirect, to their immediate manager, Human Resources, or any other member of management. This includes threats by employees, as well as threats by customers, vendors, or other members of the public. When reporting a threat of violence, employees should be as specific and detailed as possible.

Employees must report suspicious individuals and activities to their immediate manager, Human Resources, or any other member of management.

Employees should never place themselves in peril. If an employee sees or hears any type of commotion or disturbance while at work, the employee should not try to intervene, but should immediately report the matter as described above.

Zayo will promptly investigate all reports of threats, violence, and of suspicious individuals and activities. The Company will protect, as much as practicable, the identity of the employee(s) making the report.

Anyone determined to be responsible for threats of (or actual) violence or other conduct that is in violation of these guidelines will be subject to prompt disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment.

Weapons

Zayo expressly forbids the possession of any type of weapon, firearm, explosive, or ammunition on Company property, including but is not limited to, all Company premises and facilities, vehicles, and equipment, whether leased or owned by the Company or its client. In addition, firearms in employee-owned vehicles parked on Company property are strictly forbidden unless otherwise permitted by state law.

The only exception to this policy applies to licensed peace officers who are visiting Company property on official business.

In enforcing this guideline, the Company reserves the right to request inspections of any employee and their personal effects, including personal vehicles while on Company premises. It is also a violation of this policy for an employee to refuse to allow the Company to conduct an inspection pursuant to this policy. Employees within the Company share the responsibility for identifying violators and/or potential violators of this policy. An employee who witnesses or suspects another individual of violating this guideline should immediately report this information to their manager, and/or Human Resources.

Infectious Disease Control

Zayo will take proactive steps to protect the workplace in the event of an infectious disease outbreak. It is the goal of Zayo during any such time to strive to operate effectively and ensure that all essential services are provided to customers and employees are safe within the workplace.

Preventing the Spread of Infection in the Workplace

Zayo will ensure a clean workplace, including the regular cleaning of objects and areas frequently used, such as bathrooms, break rooms, conference rooms, door handles and railings. A designated committee will monitor and coordinate events around an infectious disease outbreak, as well as to create work rules to promote safety through infection control.

We ask all employees to cooperate in taking steps to reduce the transmission of infectious disease in the workplace. The best strategy remains the most obvious—frequent hand washing with warm, soapy water; covering your mouth whenever you sneeze or cough; and discarding used tissues in wastebaskets. We will also install alcohol-based hand sanitizers throughout the workplace and in common areas.

Unless otherwise notified, our normal attendance and leave policies will remain in place. Individuals who believe they may face particular challenges reporting to work during an infectious disease outbreak should take steps to develop any necessary contingency plans.

Illness or Injury on the Job

In the event an employee becomes ill or is injured on the job, no matter how minor, the employee is required to report the incident immediately to their manager and Human Resources. Incident or injury reports must be filed. Such reports are necessary to comply with applicable law and to initiate insurance and workers' compensation benefits procedures.

PERSONAL APPEARANCE

Dress, grooming, and personal cleanliness standards contribute to the morale of all employees and affect the business image Zayo presents to customers and visitors.

During business hours or when representing Zayo, employees are expected to present a clean, neat, and tasteful appearance. Employees should dress and groom appropriately according to business circumstances and the requirements of the employee's position. Careful attention should be given to circumstances when an employee is meeting with customers or other third parties.

An employee's manager or department head is responsible for establishing any further rules for a reasonable dress code appropriate to the job you perform. Consult your manager or HR if you have questions as to what constitutes appropriate appearance. Where necessary, reasonable accommodation may be made to a person with a disability or sincerely held religious belief.

Without unduly restricting individual tastes, the following personal appearance guidelines should be followed:

- Anything one would wear to go to the gym, to the beach, to go clubbing, to clean the garage, or to work in the yard, should be left at home.
- Clothing should be clean, pressed or wrinkle free, and without holes or frayed areas.
- Tops should meet bottoms at all times. If skin around an employee's middle or an employee's underwear shows when the employee moves, the clothes should be changed.
- Clothing will not contain any offensive pictures, slogans, or words.
- Offensive body odor and poor personal hygiene is not professionally acceptable.

PERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS IN THE WORKPLACE

The employment of relatives or individuals involved in a dating relationship, whether in a direct manager-employee relationship or in any other superior and employee relationship, may cause serious conflicts and problems with favoritism and employee morale. In addition to claims of partiality in treatment at work, personal conflicts from outside the work environment can be carried over into day-to-day working relationships.

For purposes of this policy, a relative is any person who is related by blood or marriage, or whose relationship with the employee is similar to that of persons who are related by blood or marriage. A dating relationship is defined as a relationship that reasonably may be expected to lead to the formation of a consensual "romantic" or sexual relationship.

Relatives of current employees may not occupy a position that will be working directly for or managing their relative. Individuals involved in a dating relationship also may also not occupy a position that will be working directly for or managing the employee with whom they are involved in a dating relationship. A conflict under this policy also may be created in circumstances where a managerial employee is in a dating relationship with a subordinate employee, even if not in a direct reporting relationship. Zayo reserves the right to take prompt action if an actual or potential conflict of interest arises involving relatives or individuals involved in a dating relationship who occupy positions at any level (higher or lower) in the same line of authority that may affect the review of employment decisions.

If a relative relationship or dating relationship is established after employment between employees who are in or may be in a conflict situation described above, it is the responsibility and obligation of the manager involved in the relationship to disclose the existence of the relationship to management or HR. Management may determine whether any employment action is appropriate to negate any potential or actual conflict in the workplace, including, but not limited to, transfer/reassignment, demotion, and/or termination from employment.

Employees in a dating relationship should refrain from public workplace displays of affection and excessive personal conversation.

COMPUTER AND INTERNET USAGE POLICY - SECURITY OF ELECTRONIC DATA

Zayo is committed to accomplishing its business objectives in a secure and timely manner. Each employee must assist in achieving this goal while safeguarding corporate information assets. Zayo provides its employees with resources to assist them in work-related tasks. The basic regulations for using Zayo computer systems and equipment are as follows:

- Zayo computers and devices, files, applications, internet, email, and software furnished to employees are Zayo property and are intended for business use only – incidental or occasional personal use is permitted provided it does not impede employee performance or disrupt the workplace. Any sort of illegal activity or gambling is prohibited.
- Zayo may monitor employees' computer and devices, chat, internet, and email usage to ensure the integrity and security of these communication methods and may access any information viewed, created, transmitted, accessed, received, or stored on its information systems, computers, or other devices in order to investigate security events or claims of misconduct. The information may also be subject to disclosure to law enforcement or third parties.
- Zayo requires employees to respect all copyright and other intellectual property laws. Zayo prohibits the unauthorized use, installation, copying, or distribution of copyrighted, trademarked, or patented material. Copying, duplicating, reproducing, or downloading software of any kind (and its related documentation) is prohibited without prior permission. Zayo purchases and licenses the use of various computer software for business purposes and does not own the copyright to this software or its related documentation.

- Zayo prohibits attempts to break into the computer system of another organization or person.
- The Zayo security group will be responsible for monitoring and enforcing the use of corporate resources in accordance with industry best practices, organizational requirements, and emergent threats. Employees are required to cooperate with security investigations.
- Employees should take the necessary anti-virus precautions before downloading, copying, or decompressing any files.
- Employees are expected to use their professional judgment when using Zayo computers, Chatter, email, internet, or network systems and are prohibited from creating, transmitting, accessing, or disseminating information (including images) that could be considered discriminatory, pornographic, obscene, threatening, violent, or harassing, including information that violates Zayo Harassment and EEOC policies, or any state or federal law. Violations may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.
- Employees should not use email to solicit others for commercial ventures or religious causes.
- Company proprietary information (business, financial, and marketing strategies) must be protected. Employees are prohibited from unauthorized disclosure of business secrets, trade secrets, or Zayo's confidential material or proprietary information outside of the organization without the advance approval of their manager or Zayo's legal team, and from disclosing their own or any other employee's Zayo credentials, code, or passwords.

Please use Zayo computers, devices, applications, software, files, and the internet professionally and responsibly. Employees should contact their manager with any questions regarding appropriate usage.

SOCIAL MEDIA POLICY

Zayo uses social media to interact with job seekers, customers, investors and the community. Employees may also use their personal social media channels to participate in the conversation as long as they use common sense and adhere to the guidelines below. This policy governs the publication of and commentary on all social media, including, but not limited to, platforms like Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, blogs, YouTube, Instagram, Google+ and Pinterest.

While content on Zayo's social accounts are handled by Zayo, we strongly encourage employees to get engaged on social media. Whether it's via Facebook, X aka Twitter, LinkedIn, or blogging – social media helps tell customers, recruits, potential customers and investors what is going on in the world of Zayo.

To do this successfully, it's important for us to establish guidelines around social media use and blogging. If you choose to identify yourself as a Zayo employee or to discuss matters related to our business, bear in mind that although the information you publish will generally be viewed as a medium of personal expression, some readers may view you as a de facto spokesperson for Zayo. In light of this possibility, please review and adhere to the following guidelines:

Transparency and Disclosure / What Can You Share?

- You are not permitted to disclose Zayo's confidential or proprietary information, including unpublished details about customers, details of current projects, financial information, research, or customer engagements. This includes discussing a customer's company or product and/or discussing our role with their company. You must at all times abide by the Employee Confidentiality and Intellectual Property Agreement, other Zayo confidentiality policies and any applicable nondisclosure agreements. Reach out to our Legal team if you have questions.
- If you post, comment on a blog post, or otherwise publish information about our products or services, be transparent. Clearly disclose your relationship with Zayo to readers. Make it clear to your readers that the views expressed by you are yours alone and do not represent the official views of Zayo. If you blog on behalf of the company and identify yourself as a Zayo employee, please get approval from the Corporate Marketing team and/or the Corporate Communications team before the blog gets posted.
- Obtain appropriate permission of the Corporate Marketing team before you refer to or post images of current or former employees, vendors or suppliers.
- Respect the laws governing copyright, fair use of copyrighted material owned by others, trademarks, and other intellectual property. To minimize the risk of a copyright violation, obtain appropriate permission to use a third party's copyrights, copyrighted material, trademarks, service marks or other intellectual property, and provide reference to the source(s) of information you use and accurately cite copyrighted works.
- Do not post on social media about any crisis situations as the media can pick these up as part of stories.
- Understand that you assume full responsibility and liability for your public statements.

(Good rule of thumb: – if you haven't seen a press release or investor presentation about it, don't share the info.)

Code of Business Ethics & Conduct/Common Sense Guidelines

- Company equipment, including computers and electronic systems, are limited to business use only.
- Be respectful and professional in your posts. You are prohibited from making discriminatory, defamatory, libelous or slanderous comments or statements that are obscene, threatening or harassing when discussing Zayo, and/or your supervisors, coworkers, customers, clients and/or competitors. Our Code of Conduct and other policies, including our Harassment Policy, apply to your social media activity.
- Use good judgment in sharing photos/videos of you, your supervisor or co-workers.
- Take care to proofread everything you post. Accuracy and grammar are important as it represents you, our brand and the company.
- If you see a misrepresentation about Zayo in the media, bring it to the attention of the Corporate Communications team. Do not comment on the misrepresentation on your personal channels or a blog site.

Using the Zayo Brand

- We appreciate your help in promoting the Zayo brand. To ensure that our brand is protected and stays consistent across the company, you may not create a social media or blog account on behalf of Zayo or use any company logos, trademarks logos or graphics in social media and other online postings without first obtaining permission from the Corporate Marketing team.
- Zayo reserves the right to require that certain topics be avoided, that you withdraw certain posts, and that you remove inappropriate comments.

Enforcement

Please be aware that Zayo may request, in its sole and absolute discretion, that you temporarily confine your website, blog or other commentary to topics unrelated to the company if it believes this is necessary or advisable to ensure compliance with laws or regulations. Failure to comply with these requests may lead to discipline up to and including termination, and if appropriate, Zayo will pursue all available legal remedies. Employees should notify their manager, Human Resources, Legal, or management upon learning of any violations of this policy. Nothing in this Computer and Internet Usage Policy or Social Media Policy is intended to prevent or interfere with employees engaging in Section 7 rights under the National Labor Relations Act.

DATA PROTECTION EXPECTATIONS

Personal Information

In the course of conducting business, Zayo collects and processes personal information related to employees, contractors, and customers. The privacy principles by which Zayo manages personal information are applicable to both employee personal information and customer information. Zayo's Employee Confidentiality and Intellectual Property Agreement sets forth Zayo's policy and expectations regarding personal data collected or maintained by or on behalf of the Company for employees and contractors, and Zayo's Information Security Policy sets forth Zayo's policy and expectations regarding customer information collected and processed through Zayo websites and portals.

Both policies are built on the following data protection principles and should be applied operationally in everything we do at Zayo:

- Notify employees and customers about Company uses of personal information;
- Collect or process only as much information as required for the task;
- Changes in the stated use of collected personal information will require consent from the individual;
- Personal information held will be kept secure;
- Personal information held will be kept accurate and up to date;

- Personal information held will be destroyed once the Company has no need or reason to keep it;
- Observe the individual's rights to access personal information being held by the Company at any time;
- Ensure any transfer of personal information to a country or territory outside the European Economic Area is controlled through an adequate set of enforceable data protection controls related to the processing of personal information.

This inherent right to privacy must not be violated under any circumstances. If you have any questions as to whether you can access either customer personal information or employee personal information for a particular purpose, contact the legal team for guidance.

For call centers/support agents, Zayo utilizes an automated software platform to record customer interactions to ensure proper support, quality efficiency and provide future training or learning opportunities. This may also be used for coaching, customer complaints and employee evaluations.

Confidential Information

The Company's confidential information is an important corporate asset and must not be divulged or released without authorization. Confidential information refers to any information that is not in the public domain. It includes proprietary information, such as intellectual property and trade secrets; personal information about our customers; and certain kinds of information about our competitors or our Company, such as:

- Information about current or planned products;
- Business, service or marketing strategies;
- Costs and pricing information;
- Non-public earnings reports and other financial reports;
- Information provided by suppliers and competitors; and
- Information related to competitive plans of the Company including divestitures, mergers, acquisitions, and reorganizations.

Confidential information must not be disclosed to unauthorized persons, either within or outside of the Company.

To protect the Company's competitive and confidential information from unauthorized use and disclosure, be sure to clearly mark all such information appropriately, limit access and distribution of such information only to those with a need-to-know, and ensure that once the information is no longer required, it is disposed of in a safe and secure manner. Further, before disclosing confidential information to a third party, or accepting confidential information from a third party, you should contact Zayo's legal team to arrange for an appropriate confidentiality agreement.

Breach Reporting

Any employee who becomes aware of an incident or potential incident involving the unauthorized access or disclosure of an individual's personal information or customer confidential information as a result of an action by the Company or its employees, is obligated to report such incident to their manager for further action.

COMMUNICATIONS WITH THE PUBLIC, INVESTORS AND THE MEDIA

As a global company, Zayo's message is heard across the world. For this reason, it is important we speak with one voice. To ensure that our communications are always accurate and consistent, a limited number of individuals within the Company are responsible for communicating on our behalf. Therefore, only designated spokespersons within the Company may make certain statements to the public. Should you need assistance with media inquiries, or if you are contacted by a member of the media, please contact Zayo's Corporate Marketing team. Keep in mind that you should never attempt to speak on Zayo's behalf when not authorized to do so, and should not feel pressured to provide answers to outside inquiries.

Always exercise careful judgment when posting comments on social media, particularly those about our business, customers or business partners. Remember that your communications over social media can have significant public implications for the Company. If you plan to use social media for business-related purposes, you must first obtain authorization from your supervisor.

GIFTS, ENTERTAINMENT AND HOSPITALITIES

The offering or receiving of gifts, entertainment and hospitality can be an excellent way to foster positive business relationships. However, there are strict rules governing these practices to ensure they are never given or received as an improper incentive or bribe.

In addition, we must not create or give the appearance of a conflict of interest when engaging in these business practices. Therefore, it is important to understand and abide by our Code, Company policy and the law when offering or accepting any gifts, favors, meals, entertainment or hospitality from customers, suppliers or other business partners or their family members.

Employees may not give gifts in connection with Zayo business except in accordance with the Company's policies and procedures, which should require that each of the following circumstances are met:

- the gift is appropriate under legitimate and generally accepted local law or custom;
- the gift is permitted by the rules of the recipient's employer;
- the item is of nominal value; and
- the expenses related to the gift are supported by receipts, approved in accordance with Zayo policy, and accurately recorded in Zayo's books and records

All other gifts must be approved in advance by Zayo Legal Department or their designees. Please see the Anti-Corruption Policy, which can be found on zHub for specific guidance in this area.

CHAPTER FIVE: Employee Benefits

EMPLOYEE BENEFITS

Zayo provides eligible employees with a wide range of benefits. Benefits eligibility is dependent upon a variety of factors, including employee classification. Details of many of these programs are posted on zHub > People & Culture.

Any description of employee benefits in this handbook only summarizes the provisions of a formal benefit Plan document and does not attempt to cover all the details contained in the Plan document. The operation of the Plan, including events making you eligible or ineligible for benefits, the amount of benefits to which you (or your beneficiaries) may be entitled, and actions you (or your beneficiaries) must take to request and support a claim for benefits will be governed solely by the terms of the official Plan document. To the extent that any information contained in this handbook is inconsistent with the official Plan document, the provisions set forth in the Plan document will govern in all cases.

You can enroll your eligible dependents in plans that offer dependent coverage. Eligible dependents are defined as your legal spouse or domestic partner and eligible children who reside up to age 26. This includes: your own children, legally adopted children, stepchildren, a child for whom you have been appointed legal guardian, and/or a child for whom the court has issued a Qualified Medical Child Support Order (QMCSO) requiring you or your spouse or domestic partner to provide coverage.

Domestic partners are eligible to enroll as dependents in the benefit plans. You and your partner must meet specific criteria to qualify for domestic partner coverage. Domestic partners are defined as same-sex and opposite-sex couples who are registered with any state or local government domestic partner registry. A domestic partnership is different from a marriage with an individual of the same-sex. A same-sex spouse is a federal tax dependent for group health plan purposes; whereas, a domestic partner often is not. If you cover a domestic partner, a domestic partner's child or another person who is not considered an IRS tax dependent for group health plan purposes, Zayo is required to report income for you that reflects the value of coverage for tax-reporting purposes. This is known as imputed income. You will receive a W-2 annually for the value of coverage for any dependent who is not an IRS tax dependent.

The following benefits are available to Full-Time Employees (Working more than 30 hours per week):

- Medical & Prescription Drug Insurance

- Employee Assistance Program
- Retirement Savings 401(k)
- Workers' Compensation
- Sick Time

Regular Part-Time Employees who work at least 20 hours per week consistently are provided Holiday pay on a pro-rated basis.

For group insurance, if you're enrolling as a new employee, you become eligible for benefits on the first of the month following your date of hire (if you start on the first of the month, you are eligible for benefits immediately) and must enroll via Workday within 30 days of hire to have coverage for the rest of the plan year. Employees who fail to submit their benefit elections within 30 days of hire will not be eligible for benefits during the plan year and will be required to wait until the next Open Enrollment period to enroll in benefits for the following plan year.

EMPLOYEE ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

Zayo cares about the health and well-being of its employees and recognizes that a variety of personal problems can disrupt their personal and work lives.

Through the Employee Assistance Program (EAP), Zayo provides all employees and their families' confidential access to professional counseling services. The EAP is intended to provide prompt, confidential help with a range of personal and family issues. Employees will also have telephonic access 24/7, access to an online library and access to referrals.

You may reach the EAP at 833-322-1931 or modernhealth.helpwhereyouare.com and enter Zayo.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION

The Company fully complies with all state and federal laws pertaining to Workers' Compensation. Employees of The Company are covered by Workers' Compensation insurance, which is purchased by the Company in the states in which it operates. This insurance provides an employee with compensation for illness, accidental injury, or death suffered during or because of his/her employment with the Company in accordance with state laws.

Eligibility for benefits under Workers' Compensation insurance is automatic and is effective on date of hire. Benefits provide weekly payments based upon a statutorily specified amount of the employee's regular earnings as well as payments for medical and hospital expenses arising out of an occupational illness or injury. Any time lost by an employee due to an occupational illness or injury covered by Workers' Compensation insurance is credited as active service for all Company benefits.

INCENTIVE CASH COMPENSATION

Annual Incentive Plan (AIP)

AIP represents the variable component of our total compensation program, and is measured and administered on an annual basis. Interns and temporary or fixed term employees are not eligible to participate in the AIP. Quota bearing sales employees are not eligible for AIP and are instead eligible for SIP which is governed by the Sales Compensation Plan. AIP will be prorated for new hires and for any extended leave of absence, regardless of reason, during a performance year.

The determination of the annual payouts for non-quota bearing (i.e. non-sales) employees will be reviewed against the predetermined financial and non-financial targets that fund the pool. Results will be approved by Compensation and Governance Committee of the Board of Directors (the "Committee") in Q1 each year prior to payout. Managers also make recommendations for individual payouts based on the employee's performance and contributions during the performance period. Manager recommendations will roll-up to the ELT who will provide final approval of individual payouts.

The goals and weighting of the AIP components may change annually based upon the key metrics associated with that year's budget. Examples of key metrics of the AIP include: Revenue Growth (Net Install Bookings & Recurring Revenue), Profitability (EBITDA) and Cash Management (Capital Spend).

An employee's annual incentive cash compensation target under the Company's discretionary AIP is reflected as a percentage of the employee's base salary. Actual AIP payouts will vary based on performance of the Company, your function, and you individually during the performance period. The Company has the sole discretion to determine AIP payouts and the terms and conditions of the AIP, which may change. You must be actively employed by the Company at the time AIP payouts are made in order to earn and receive any such AIP payment. You are not guaranteed to receive your AIP target amount, and the actual payout percentage may vary. Payouts are made within 90 days following the completion of the applicable performance period. Employees on a leave of absence when AIP payouts occur will receive their AIP payment after they return to work.

For the avoidance of doubt, following a termination of employment, for any reason, employees will not earn or receive any payments under the Company's AIP, unless otherwise required by state or local law.

Notwithstanding the above, retiring employees may be eligible to receive a prorated payment of AIP upon their retirement. The payment will be based on time worked during the applicable year and on the Company's then current bonus funding accrual level. To be eligible for an AIP payment upon retirement, an employee must:

- Be at least 58 years of age at the time of retirement;
- Have worked at Zayo for at least 5 years (or at Zayo for at least 3 years, and for 7 total years including service at a company that Zayo acquired);
- Provide at least 30 days written notice of his or her intent to retire; and
- Sign a non-compete agreement and acknowledge your intent to retire.

Holidays

Zayo grants paid holiday time off to all regular, non-union employees for the holidays listed below:

- New Year's Day* (January 1)
- Memorial Day (last Monday in May)
- Independence Day* (July 4)
- Labor Day (first Monday in September)
- Thanksgiving (fourth Thursday in November)
- Day after Thanksgiving
- Christmas* (December 25)
- Day after Christmas*
- Two (2) Floating Holidays:
 - Two, eight (8) hour days to be used during the calendar year with manager approval

*If a holiday falls on a Saturday or Sunday, its observance on Friday or Monday is at management's discretion.

Zayo grants paid holiday time off to all regular employees immediately upon assignment to an eligible employment classification. Holiday pay will be calculated based on the employee's straight-time pay rate (as of the date of the holiday) times the number of hours the employee would otherwise have worked on that day.

If a recognized holiday falls during a Regular Employees paid absence (not a Leave of Absence), holiday pay will be provided instead of the PTO that would otherwise have applied.

If regular nonexempt employees work on a recognized holiday as approved by their manager, they will receive holiday pay plus wages at one and one-half times their straight-time rate for the hours worked on the holiday. Paid time off for holidays will not be counted as hours worked for the purposes of determining overtime.

Regular and floating holidays are not paid out upon termination

Paid Time Off (PTO)

Paid time off is available to regular full-time hourly employees (excluding those eligible for FTO) according to this Policy. Employees who are subject to a collective bargaining agreement should consult that agreement for any policies regarding PTO. PTO may be used for any reason, including vacation, illness, medical appointments, family care, and personal business.

Upon the date that an employee becomes eligible for PTO, the employee's eligible PTO balance builds according to the Schedule below. The amount of PTO for which employees are eligible and the maximum PTO balance is based upon the employee's length of service with the Company as shown in the following schedule:

Length of Eligible Service (based on employee anniversary)	Zayo PTO Accrual Rate (Semi-Monthly)	PTO Eligible Days/Hours Per Year	Maximum PTO Balance
Year 1 – Year 3 Month 1 - Month 36	5.08 hours per paycheck	15 Days 120 Hours	120 Hours
Year 3 - Year 5 Month 37 - Month 59	6.66 hours per paycheck	20 Days 160 Hours	160 Hours
Year 5 + Month 60 +	8.34 hours per paycheck	25 Days 200 Hours	240 Hours

Once an employee has reached the Maximum PTO Balance, the employee will not build any additional PTO until the employee's PTO balance falls below the Maximum PTO Balance. For example, if an employee has less than three (3) years of Eligible Service, that employee's maximum PTO balance is 120 hours. As a result, that employee will not build additional PTO until such time as that employee has used some of his/her PTO balance and dropped below the maximum PTO balance.

The length of eligible service is calculated on the basis of a "PTO Benefit Year." This is the 12-month period that begins on the employee's start date. Employees receive credit for an additional PTO Benefit Year on the anniversary of the employee's specific start date each year.

Once an employee has a PTO balance pursuant to this Policy, the employee may submit a request to their manager to use PTO according to the Scheduled PTO process below. In the event of an emergency, employees who do not have a sufficient PTO balance to cover the absence may request to use up to a max of forty (40) hours of PTO in excess of the amount of PTO in the employee's available balance. Approval of the use of up to forty (40) hours excess PTO is at the manager's discretion. If an employee's PTO balance is negative at the time of termination, employees are expected to repay via final pay deduction or personal check to the Company and hereby agrees that the Company may deduct any necessary amounts from the employee's final paycheck.

Scheduled PTO

For scheduled PTO, employees should request time off a minimum of five (5) business days in advance. PTO use is subject to manager's approval. Requests will be reviewed based on a number of factors, including the amount of time before the start date of employee's requested PTO, the Company's business needs, and associated staffing requirements. The decision to grant an employee's PTO shall be at the sole discretion of the Company.

Unscheduled PTO

In some instances, it may not be possible for an employee to schedule PTO. For unscheduled PTO use, employees should submit their request for PTO to their Manager as far in advance as possible but at a minimum of thirty (30) minutes prior to each scheduled work day. Employees are also responsible for providing daily updates each missed workday and informing their manager of the anticipated date of their return to work.

The Company may require employees who are absent due to their own illnesses to provide appropriate medical documentation from a health care provider. An employee's failure to contact the manager in situations of Unscheduled PTO or to provide appropriate medical documentation upon manager's request may result in denial of PTO requests and, depending on the circumstances, may subject the employee to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Leave of Absence (LOA) under this PTO policy may run concurrently with leave taken under other applicable policies as well as under local, state or federal law, including leave taken pursuant to the California Family Rights Act (CFRA) or the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA).

PTO is paid at the employee's base pay rate at the time of PTO use. It does not include overtime or any special forms of compensation such as incentives or bonuses. Employees must record all PTO use via the Zayo time recording system. Failure to accurately record PTO use may result in disciplinary action.

An employee cannot take unpaid time in lieu of paid time if they have any kind of paid leave available to them including unused accrued PTO hours, Floating Holidays or Gift of Time.

Employees should be advised that PTO provided hereunder does not result in employees accruing benefits until such time as the employee elects to use such PTO benefits. In the event that an employee's employment is terminated, either voluntarily or involuntarily, the Company does not pay the amount of PTO balance the employee had at the time of employee's termination (unless otherwise required by state law).

Flexible Time Off (FTO)

Flexible time off is available to salaried employees according to this Policy. Employees who are subject to a collective bargaining agreement should consult that agreement for any policies regarding FTO. The FTO policy gives you the flexibility to take paid time off for any reason, including vacation, illness, medical appointments, family care, and personal business, subject to the rules outlined below.

A FTO participant normally will not meet their obligations if the FTO participant fails to (a) timely and fully-perform their job duties; (b) be regularly available during normal working hours to meet with other Company personnel or customers; (c) shoulder their fair or assigned share of the Company's workload; (d) cover for colleagues who are out of the office; or (e) notify their manager in advance of any absence or follow their manager's requests as to the scheduling of that absence.

The Company expects all employees, including FTO participants, to take vacations every year, and no FTO participant will be criticized for doing so in a manner that satisfies our FTO Policy.

A goal of our FTO benefit is to encourage FTO participants to rest and recharge, or recover, by regularly taking time off from work, consistent with meeting their obligations. Our FTO policy treats all FTO participants as responsible professionals. The Company expects participants not to abuse our FTO. FTO participants who abuse our FTO or fail to meet their obligations will be subject to discipline, up to and including termination of employment.

All FTO must be approved in advance by the employee's manager. FTO in excess of 10 consecutive business days must be approved by the employee's SLT leader.

FTO does not accrue, is not earned, cannot be carried over year to year, and will not be paid out annually or upon termination of employment, except as may be required by applicable law.

Special Rules for Certain Leaves

FTO does not supersede the Company's leave policies for illnesses, disabilities, ADA, parenting, military, jury duty, personal, and other leaves as set forth in the Employee Handbook. The Company expects employees who qualify for other leaves to utilize them, and employees are not permitted to use FTO if they are eligible for and are granted leave under the other leave policies, except as expressly provided below. If an employee takes time off under our FTO instead of taking a leave for which he or she is eligible under the Company's Special Leave policies, except as required by applicable law, he or she will not be afforded any special rights or privileges associated with that leave and may be subject to discipline, up to and including termination.

A FTO participant who is out for more than five days for any reason other than vacation (e.g., illness, caring for an ill family member, parental leave, disability, jury duty, etc.) must contact benefits@zayo.com to determine whether the employee qualifies for another leave. Failure to do so may lead to discipline, up to and including termination. If a FTO participant qualifies for and is granted another leave under the Company's policies, the employee may not take FTO during any period of time during which the employee is receiving compensation from the Company, the state, or the federal government as a result of that leave (e.g., short- or long-term disability insurance payments or state paid family and medical leave). For any period during which an employee takes another leave under the Company's other leave policies and the employee is not receiving compensation from the Company, the state, or the federal government as a result of that leave having an initial elimination period before benefits are payable, the employee may use FTO for any unpaid elimination period up to a maximum of 10 business days during the special leave. Use of more than 10 days of FTO during a Personal Leave or other approved unpaid leave is not permitted.

FTO and Parental Leave

FTO cannot be taken for more than 10 days immediately before or after parental leave. Parental leave already allows for employees to take up to six weeks of leave paid at 100 percent.

Unpaid Leave

You must apply for unpaid leave for time off exceeding 10 business days, unless approved by your SLT leader. Any consecutive leave not previously agreed upon after five days would be unpaid unless approved by HRBP or converted to a leave claim and submitted to the leave of absence vendor, UNUM, for review.

SICK TIME

All regular part-time, temporary and interns, not eligible for PTO or FTO, accrue 2 hours per pay period of sick time up to 48 hours.

VOLUNTEER TIME OFF (VTO)

The Volunteer Time Off (VTO) benefit connects employees to the global communities where we live and work by providing them an opportunity to invest their time and expertise. VTO allows employees to get involved in areas of personal interest while giving back and making a meaningful impact to nonprofit community organizations.

Employees receive four (4) hours of Volunteer Time Off (VTO) per quarter and can volunteer up to 16 hours or two (2) days per calendar year toward a 501.c.3 charitable organization, in accordance with Zayo's volunteer guidelines.

- Time resets at the beginning of each calendar year, unless the program is amended or discontinued
- VTO does not accrue from year to year
- VTO is not paid out upon termination
- May not be used for organizations that discriminate based on creed, race, color, national origin, religion, age, disability, sex, gender, identity, sexual orientation, pregnancy or any other legally protected classification

Eligibility:

- VTO must be submitted in advance and approved by the employee's manager
- All Full-time employees are eligible
- Part-time employees, Contractors, temps and interns are not eligible for VTO
- Employees can choose one or more charities/organizations of their choice or work together with other employees on a group volunteer activity

RETIREMENT SAVINGS - 401(k)

Zayo offers a 401(k) plan to eligible employees who may join the plan as soon as administratively feasible after the date of hire. Zayo's plan offers both pre-tax and Roth contributions. Eligible employees are auto-enrolled at a 2% contribution. You may contribute up to the annual IRS limits.

Zayo matches 50% of the first 8% of compensation contributed, capped at 4%. The vesting schedule for employer matching contributions and earnings is:

- 33% after 1 year,
- 67% after 2 years,
- 100% vesting after 3 years

BENEFITS CONTINUATION (COBRA)

The federal Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA) gives employees and their qualified beneficiaries the opportunity to continue health insurance coverage under Zayo's health plan when a "qualifying event" would normally result in the loss of eligibility. Some common qualifying events are resignation, termination of employment, or death of an employee; a reduction in an employee's hours or a leave of absence; an employee's divorce or legal separation; and a dependent child no longer meeting eligibility requirements.

Under COBRA, the employee or beneficiary pays the full cost of coverage at the Zayo group rate plus an administration fee. WEX provides each eligible employee with a written notice describing rights granted under COBRA when the employee becomes eligible for coverage under Zayo's health insurance plan. The notice contains important information about the employee's rights and obligations.

Please refer to your Health and Welfare Summary Plan Description for information on special COBRA subsidy provisions that were enacted pursuant to the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009.

CHAPTER SIX: Leaves of Absence

FAMILY AND MEDICAL LEAVE OF ABSENCE (FMLA)

Zayo is covered by the Federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) and employees may be entitled to a leave of absence under the FMLA. This policy provides employees information concerning FMLA entitlements and obligations employees may have during such leaves. Unum administers leaves under FMLA for Zayo employees. Employees must contact the benefits department at benefits@zayo.com to request a leave of absence.

Employees Eligible for FMLA Leave

Leave is available to "eligible employees." To be an "eligible employee," an employee must: (1) have been employed by Zayo for at least 12 months (which need not be consecutive); and (2) have been employed by Zayo for at least 1,250 hours of service during the 12 month period immediately preceding the commencement of the leave.

Employee Entitlements for FMLA Leave

Basic FMLA Leave Entitlement

The FMLA provides eligible employees up to 12 work weeks of unpaid leave for certain family and medical reasons during a twelve month period. The twelve month period is determined based on a rolling 12-month period measured backwards from the date the employee's leave will be taken. Please contact Unum 866.868.6737 for any local variations applicable to this policy.

Leave may be taken for any one, or for a combination, of the following reasons:

- To care for the employee's child after birth, or placement for adoption or foster care (Leave taken for this reason must be completed within the twelve month period beginning on the date of birth or placement);
- To care for the employee's spouse, son, daughter or parent (but not in-law) who has a serious health condition. Spouse includes lawfully recognized same-sex and common law marriages, and marriages that were entered into outside of the United States, if they could have been entered into in at least one state;
- For the employee's own serious health condition (including any period of incapacity due to pregnancy, prenatal medical care or childbirth) that makes the employee unable to perform one or more of the essential functions of the employee's job; and/or
- Because of any qualifying exigency arising out of the fact that an employee's spouse/domestic partner, son, daughter or parent is a covered military member on active duty or has been notified of an impending call or order to active duty status in the National Guard or Reserves in support of contingency operation.

A serious health condition is an illness, injury, impairment, or physical or mental condition that involves either an overnight stay in a medical care facility, or continuing treatment by a healthcare provider for a condition that either prevents the employee from performing the functions of the employee's job, or prevents the qualified family member from participating in school or other daily activities. Subject to certain conditions, the continuing treatment requirement may be met by a period of incapacity of more than 3 consecutive calendar days combined with at least two visits to a health care provider or one visit and a regimen of continuing treatment, or incapacity due to pregnancy, or incapacity due to a chronic condition. Other conditions may meet the definition of continuing treatment.

Qualifying exigencies may include attending certain military events, arranging for alternative childcare, addressing certain financial and legal arrangements, attending certain counseling sessions, and attending post-deployment reintegration briefings.

Additional Military Family Leave Entitlement (Injured Service Member Leave)

In addition to the basic FMLA leave entitlement discussed above, an eligible employee who is the spouse/domestic partner, son, daughter, parent, or next of kin of a covered service member is entitled to take up to 26 weeks of leave during a single 12-month period to care for the service member with a serious injury or illness. Leave to care for a service member shall only be available during a single-12 month period and, when combined with other FMLA-qualifying leave, may not exceed 26 weeks during the single 12-month period. The single 12-month period begins on the first day an eligible employee takes leave to care for the injured service member.

A “covered service member” means a member of the Armed Forces, including a member of the National Guard or Reserves, who is undergoing medical treatment, recuperation, or therapy, is otherwise in outpatient status, or is on the temporary retired list, for a serious injury or illness. A member of the Armed Forces would have a serious injury or illness if he/she has incurred an injury or illness in the line of duty while on active duty in the Armed Forces provided that the injury or illness may render the service member medically unfit to perform duties of the member’s office, grade, rank, or rating.

Intermittent Leave and Reduced Leave Schedules

FMLA leave usually will be taken for a period of consecutive days, weeks or months. However, employees also are entitled to take FMLA leave intermittently (in separate blocks of time) or on a reduced leave schedule (reducing the usual number of hours the employee works each workday) when medically necessary due to a serious health condition of the employee or covered family member or the serious injury or illness of a covered service member. Employees will receive their current rate of pay for hours worked and time spent working will not count against their available FMLA leave. Employees should report intermittent time take to Unum and the employees manager within 48 hours.

Protection of Group Health Insurance and Other Benefits

During an approved FMLA leave, the employee’s group health benefits will be maintained as if the employee continued to be actively employed. However, the employee must continue to pay the employee’s portion, if any, of the group health plan premiums or the employee’s benefits may be canceled.

Restoration of Employment and Benefits

At the end of FMLA leave, subject to some exceptions including situations where job restoration of “key employees” will cause Zayo Group substantial and grievous economic injury, employees generally have a right to return to the same or equivalent positions with equivalent pay, benefits and other employment terms. Employees will be notified if they qualify as “key employees,” if there is an intention to deny reinstatement, and of their rights in such instances. Use of FMLA leave will not result in the loss of any employment benefit that was granted prior to the start of an eligible employee’s FMLA leave.

Substitute Paid Leave for Unpaid FMLA Leave

Hourly employees must use any available PTO while taking unpaid FMLA leave and salaried employees may use up to 10 days of FTO. The substitution of PTO or FTO for unpaid FMLA leave time does not extend the length of FMLA leave and the PTO or FTO will run concurrently with an employee’s FMLA entitlement. Employees receiving paid disability benefits (including but not limited to workers compensation, employer sponsored, and/or state disability benefits) are not required to use PTO or FTO while taking FMLA leave. However, upon request, Zayo may allow employees to use PTO or FTO to supplement any paid disability benefits.

FMLA leave does not affect the employee’s eligibility, if any, for short or long term disability payments and/or workers’ compensation benefits under those insurance plans. Leaves of absence taken in connection with a disability leave plan or workers’ compensation injury/illness shall run concurrently with any FMLA leave entitlement.

Contact Unum absence resources at 1-866-868-6737 or the benefits department at benefits@zayo.com for more information or questions on FMLA leave.

SHORT-TERM DISABILITY

When an employee is unable to work because of his or her own serious health condition, or non-work related injury, for a period more than ten (10) consecutive work days, he or she may be eligible to receive compensation through the Short-Term Disability (STD) benefit.

In addition to applying for disability, the employee must also apply for an approved leave, such as FMLA or personal leave. Approval of disability pay does not guarantee that a leave request will be approved. The Employee is required to follow the request for leave through Unum and should contact the benefits@zayo.com if they have any questions. Benefits are payable in accordance with the plan provisions, provided medical documentation verifies the Employee's inability to work.

In states where short-term disability benefits are statutorily required, Employees should apply with the state directly.

Once a claim is approved, there is a two-week elimination period prior to receiving disability benefits. Employees will receive 100% of their pre-disability earnings during this elimination period and up to 60% (maximum amount of $1,500 per week) of their pre-disability earnings for all following weeks up to 12 weeks.

Certain family and medical leaves may be reduced by other paid leave benefits the employee may receive from other sources including, but not limited to state paid family and medical leave benefits.

LONG-TERM DISABILITY

Zayo provides a Long Term Disability (LTD) benefit program that provides income replacement when an employee has been unable to work for a period longer than 90 consecutive calendar days.

Long Term Disability benefits begin after an employee has been disabled for more than 90 consecutive calendar days (elimination period). Approval of long term disability pay does not guarantee that a leave request will be approved.

An employee is eligible to receive up to 60% to a maximum amount of $10,000 per month of their pre-disability earnings after the elimination period has been satisfied. The duration of your benefit payments is based on your age when your disability occurs. Your LTD benefits are payable while you continue to meet the definition of disability up to the Social Security Normal Retirement Age.

Your disability benefit may be reduced by deductible sources of income and any earnings you have while you are disabled, including but not limited to such items as group disability benefits.

PARENTAL LEAVE

Regular employees who have completed a minimum of six (6) months of service with Zayo or have a continuous service date of six (6) months due to an acquisition at the time of birth or placement of a child are eligible for parental leave and/or pregnancy disability leave. Part-time, Temporary Employees and Interns are not eligible for either paid parental leave or pregnancy disability leave.

Zayo will provide up to eight (8) consecutive weeks of pregnancy disability leave to an employee who is the birthing parent following the birth of a child. During this leave, the employee will receive 100% of their base salary.

In addition to pregnancy disability leave, Zayo will provide six (6) weeks of paid parental leave to both birthing and non-birthing parents following the birth, adoption, or guardianship of a child to an employee. Employees will receive 100% of their base salary during this leave. Employees may split the parental leave into a maximum of two (2) separate periods and the entire 6 weeks of leave must be used within 12 months following the birth or placement of the child. For birthing parents, the 6 weeks of parental leave will begin after the end of the pregnancy disability leave for a total of 12-14 weeks of paid leave at 100% of the employee's base salary.

Additional types of parental leave may also be available in accordance with state and local law.

To obtain pregnancy disability leave and/or paid parental leave, employees must request FMLA or a Personal Leave of Absence and must Contact Unum absence resources at 1-866-868-6737 to apply for the leave of absence. The employee must provide a minimum of 30 days advance written notice of the requested leave commencement date (or as much notice as practical if the leave is not foreseeable).

Employee Benefits shall be provided in compliance with applicable state law. Any state paid family leaves run concurrent with pregnancy disability leave, paid parental leave and/or FMLA, and any state paid benefits offset the Zayo paid parental leave benefit.

If an eligible employee works in a state with a mandated paid family or sick leave, you must participate in either the state plan concurrent with Zayo's offering (including but not limited to: CO, CA, NY, WA, MA, NJ, DC, RI, HI CT, OR). The weekly benefit provided by Zayo disability is reduced by amounts paid to you by your respective state disability. Employees living in states other than those listed are eligible for Zayo disability only in qualifying situations.

PAID CAREGIVER LEAVE

Eligibility

Regular Zayo employees who have been with the company more than six (6) months may be eligible to take up to six (6) weeks of paid caregiver leave in a rolling 12-month period to care for a loved one with a serious medical condition.

Employees can use this time to care for people with whom they share any of the following relationships: Spouse, Domestic Partner, Parent, Parent-in-Law, Grandparent, Sibling, Child, Grandchild

Employees will receive 100% of base salary for the first two weeks of leave and 60% of base salary for any weeks on leave afterward, to a maximum of six weeks.

To obtain paid caregiver leave, employees must request FMLA or a Personal Leave of Absence and must Contact Unum absence resources at 1-866-868-6737 to apply for the leave of absence. The employee must provide a minimum of 30 days advance written notice of the requested leave commencement date (or as much notice as practical if the leave is not foreseeable).

Leave Usage

Leave can be taken continuously or intermittently in one day increments.

A maximum of six (6) weeks of paid caregiver leave may be used in a rolling 12-month period.

The eligibility time frame is measured backward from the day any leave is sought. Zayo will pay employees using paid caregiver leave as follows:

- Weeks one and two: 100% of base earnings
- Weeks three through six: 60% of base earnings

Paid Benefit Considerations

If you live in a state that offers paid caregiver leave, the state is the primary payer of leave benefits and Zayo will offset those payments as applicable to reach 100% or 60% of your pay. Pay is inclusive of any income from State Paid Family Leave. Any additional time, if approved, is paid by the state where applicable, and you may use PTO or FTO to receive additional pay. Employees eligible for FTO can receive up to ten (10) days of pay and employees who accrue PTO can use accrued time until PTO is exhausted or you return to work and resume your regular schedule.

Zayo will administer this benefit in accordance with all applicable federal, state, and local paid and unpaid leave regulations.

PERSONAL LEAVE

Zayo provides leaves of absence without pay to regular employees who wish to take time off from work duties to fulfill personal obligations. Personal leaves of absence are only available to those regular employees who do not otherwise qualify for FMLA or other state or federal statutory leave. As soon as eligible employees become aware of the need for a personal leave of absence, they should request a leave from their manager and notify Human Resources. All requests for personal leave require segment lead approval.

Personal leave may be granted for a period of up to 90 days within a five (5) year period. An employee must take any available PTO as part of the approved period of leave.

Requests for personal leave will be evaluated based on a number of factors, including anticipated business requirements and considerations, workload requirements, and overall staffing considerations during the proposed period of absence.

Subject to the terms, conditions, and limitations of the applicable plans, health insurance benefits will be provided by Zayo until the end of the month in which the approved personal leave begins. At that time, employees will become responsible for the full costs of these benefits under COBRA if they wish coverage to continue. When the employee returns from personal leave, benefits will again be provided by Zayo according to the eligibility requirements of the applicable plans.

When a personal leave ends, reasonable effort will be made to return the employee to the same position, if it is available, or to a similar available position for which the employee is qualified. However, Zayo cannot guarantee reinstatement in all cases.

If an employee fails to report to work promptly at the expiration of any approved leave period, Zayo will assume the employee has resigned.

PTO/COMPENSATION WHILE ON LEAVE

During any leave whether paid or unpaid, you will not accrue PTO. Your PTO accrual will continue once you are reinstated. While out on leave, employees will also not be eligible for AIP and their annual AIP payout will be prorated to reflect only time worked during the performance period. If a payout occurs while out on leave, you will receive it on the next scheduled payroll after your return. For treatment of SIP during leave, please see the Sales Compensation Plan.

MILITARY LEAVE

A military leave of absence will be granted to employees who are absent from work because of service in the U.S. uniformed services in accordance with the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA). Advance notice of military service is required, unless military necessity prevents such notice or it is otherwise impossible or unreasonable.

Military Leave will be unpaid, however, employees may use any available PTO for the absence or up to 10 days of FTO as approved by their manager. Continuation of health insurance benefits is available as required by USERRA based on the length of the leave and subject to the terms, conditions and limitations of the applicable plans for which the employee is otherwise eligible.

Other benefits, such as paid time off and holiday benefits, will be suspended during the leave and will resume upon the employee's return to active employment.

Employees on military leave for up to 30 days are required to return to work for the first regularly scheduled shift after the end of service, allowing reasonable travel time. Employees on longer military leave must apply for reinstatement in accordance with USERRA and all applicable state laws.

Employees returning from military leave will be placed in the position they would have attained had they remained continuously employed, or a comparable one depending on the length of military service in accordance with USERRA. They will be treated as though they were continuously employed for purposes of determining benefits based on length of service.

Employees may contact the Leave Administrator at benefits@zayo.com if they have any questions.

TIME OFF TO VOTE

Zayo encourages employees to fulfill their civic responsibilities by participating in public elections. Generally, employees are able to find time to vote either before or after their regular work schedule. If employees are unable to vote in an election during their nonworking hours, Zayo will grant up to two (2) hours of paid time off to vote.

Employees should request time off to vote from their manager at least two working days prior to Election Day. Advance notice is required so that the necessary time off can be scheduled at the beginning or end of the work shift, whichever provides the least disruption to the normal work schedule.

BEREAVEMENT LEAVE

All employees who wish to take time off due to the death of an immediate family member should notify their manager immediately. Reasonable bereavement leave will normally be granted unless there are unusual business needs or staffing requirements.

Regular employees will be paid for up to five (5) days of bereavement leave. Bereavement pay is calculated based on the base pay rate at the time of absence and will not include any special forms of compensation, such as incentive or bonuses.

Employees may, with their managers' approval, use any available paid leave for additional time off as necessary.

Zayo defines "immediate family" as the employee's spouse; registered domestic partner; civil union partner; parent; child; unborn child; sibling; the parent, child, or sibling of an employee's spouse, registered domestic partner or civil union partner; the employee's child's spouse/domestic partner; the employee's grandparents and grandchildren.

JURY DUTY LEAVE

Zayo encourages employees to fulfill their civic responsibilities by serving jury duty when required. Employees will be compensated for jury duty in accordance with state law.

Unless state law provides otherwise, regular full-time employees will be paid up to one (1) week of jury duty leave over any calendar year period. Jury duty pay will be calculated on the employee's base pay rate times the number of hours the employee would otherwise have worked on the day of absence.

If employees are required to serve jury duty beyond the period of paid jury duty leave, they may use any available PTO or up to 10 days of FTO as approved by their manager or may request an unpaid jury duty leave of absence.

Employees must show the jury duty summons to their manager as soon as possible so that the manager may make arrangements to accommodate their absence. Employees are expected to report for work whenever the court schedule permits unless otherwise prohibited by state or local law.

If otherwise eligible, the employee will be paid for holidays during jury duty. Zayo will continue to provide health insurance benefits for those employees who are otherwise eligible.

WITNESS DUTY or OTHER COURT PROCEEDINGS

Zayo encourages employees to appear in court for witness duty when subpoenaed to do so. If employees have been subpoenaed or otherwise requested to testify as witnesses on behalf of Zayo, they will receive paid time off (up to 8 hours a day) for the entire period of witness duty.

Upon request and manager approval, employees will be granted unpaid time off to appear in court as a witness when requested by a party other than Zayo. Employees are free to use any available paid leave benefit to receive compensation for the period of this absence.

The subpoena should be shown to the employee's manager immediately after it is received so that operating requirements can be adjusted, where necessary, to accommodate the employee's absence. The employee is expected to report for work whenever the court schedule permits.

CHAPTER SEVEN: Termination of Employment

SEPARATION OF EMPLOYMENT

Employment at Zayo is at-will, either the Company or the employee may terminate the employment relationship, with or without cause, with or without reason, and with or without advance notice. Zayo recognizes the following categories of separation from employment:

- Resignation: Although we hope your employment with us will be a mutually rewarding experience, we understand that varying circumstances cause employees to voluntarily resign employment. Resigning employees are encouraged to provide two weeks' notice, preferably in writing, to facilitate a smooth transition out of the organization. Management reserves the right to shorten the notice period where job or business needs warrant such action.
- Retirement: Employees who wish to retire and be eligible for the retirement benefits must notify their supervisor and the Human Resources department in writing at least one (1) month before the planned retirement date.
- Job abandonment: Employees who fail to report to work or contact their supervisor for three (3) consecutive workdays shall be considered to have abandoned the job without notice, and their employment will be terminated effective at the end of their normal shift on the third day.
- Termination: Terminations may be for cause (e.g., disciplinary) or without any cause (e.g., reduction in force).

At the time of separation, an employee will be paid for all wages due and, if required by state law, any accrued but unused PTO.

Employee benefits will be affected by separation of employment in the following manner:

- Medical, dental, and vision benefits typically cease on the last day of the month of separation.
- Flex spending accounts will cease on the last day worked or date of resignation / termination.
- Some benefits may be continued at the employee's expense if the employee so chooses.
- The employee will be notified in writing of the benefits that may be continued and of the terms, conditions, and limitations of such continuance.

RETURN OF PROPERTY

Employees are responsible for items issued to them by Zayo or in their possession or control, and could include the following:

- Credit Cards
- Equipment
- Computers and peripherals
- Software
- Identification Badges
- Keys
- Manuals
- Pagers
- Telephones, mobile and stationed
- Protective Equipment
- Security Passes
- Tools
- Vehicles
- Written Materials

Employees must return all Zayo property immediately upon request or upon termination of employment. Where permitted by applicable laws, Zayo may withhold from the employee's check or final paycheck the cost of any items that are not returned when required and all employees hereby agree to such withholding. Zayo may also take all action deemed appropriate to recover or protect its property.

CHAPTER EIGHT: Other Important Agreements and Policies

As a new employee of Zayo, you acknowledged receipt of several important agreements and policies that set forth your responsibilities and required standards of conduct, including but not limited to:

- Code of Business Ethics and Conduct
- Employee Confidentiality and Intellectual Property Agreement
- Corporate Information Security Policy
- Customer Proprietary Networking Information (CPNI) Protection Policy
- Whistleblower Protection Policy
- Anti-Corruption Policy

Zayo employees are expected to understand and comply with these important agreements and policies. You can access copies of these documents via zHub.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF RECEIPT AND AGREEMENT

The Zayo Group Employee Handbook (the “Handbook”) describes important information about my employment with Zayo Group. I understand that I should consult with my manager or the Human Resources team regarding any questions regarding the Handbook or any other Company policies.

I have entered into my employment relationship with Zayo voluntarily and acknowledge that there is no specified length of employment. Accordingly, either Zayo or I can terminate the relationship at will, with or without cause, at any time, so long as there is no violation of applicable federal or state law.

Since the information, policies and benefits described in the Handbook are subject to change, I acknowledge that revisions to the Handbook may occur, except to the policy of employment at will. All such changes will be communicated through official notices, and I understand that revised information may supersede, modify or eliminate existing policies.

Only Zayo has the ability to adopt any revisions to the policies in this Handbook.

Furthermore, I acknowledge that this Handbook is not a contract of employment or legal contract. I have received a copy of the Handbook, and I understand that it is my responsibility to read, understand and comply with the policies contained in this Handbook and any revisions made to it.
