

TRAVEL & EXPENSE REIMBURSEMENT POLICY

Effective: March 15, 2024

I. Disclaimer

This policy is not intended to be and is not a contract (express or implied), nor does it otherwise create any legally enforceable obligations on the part of Zayo. Neither this policy nor any statements by any manager of Zayo constitute or imply an employment contract. All U.S. employees are employed “at will,” which means that employees can terminate their employment at any time for any reason, and Zayo can terminate any employee’s employment at any time for any reason.

Zayo reserves the right to revise, supplement, or rescind this policy at any time as it deems appropriate in its sole and absolute discretion and with or without advance notice to employees.

For Union employees, in case of any conflict or differences between this policy and the Collective Agreement, the terms of the Collective Agreement will apply.

II. Introduction

All T&E reimbursable transactions identified in this policy require pre-approval of the appropriate ELT member.

Travel and entertainment costs represent a significant controllable expense in Zayo’s operations. This T&E Policy provides guidance for traveling employees and for those who authorize the payment of travel expenses for employees of Zayo. It is Company policy to reimburse employees for reasonable expenses incurred in pursuit of Company business. Employees are responsible for the direct settlement of all expenses incurred. Periodically, the Company will issue directives on major travel-related activities. In the event of a conflict between the given directive and the T&E Policy, the directive shall supersede the policy.

All travel expenses are subject to examination by local tax authorities and must be properly supported. Zayo may be susceptible to penalties/ fines if expenses are not properly explained and supported. Stringent requirements are placed upon companies to substantiate their travel and entertainment expenses. These expenses are eligible for deduction ONLY when they serve a clear business purpose. Therefore, all employee expense reports must thoroughly detail the business reason for the expense.

Zayo maintains a corporate credit card program for executives and any employee who regularly incurs business expenses over $2,500 per year. Contact the Zayo Credit Card Administrator at corporatecard@zayo.com to request a corporate card. Employees will need to ensure not to submit corporate card expenses as a reimbursable expense.

All currency amounts in this document are in US Dollar, unless stated otherwise.

A. Provisions

All expenses submitted for reimbursement are subject to review and audit. A report of all items approved by managers that are outside of policy will be reviewed each month by a designated team for appropriateness.

B. Compliance

Employees are required to adhere to the T&E Policy. Zayo will not reimburse employees for expenses incurred which are not authorized by the T&E Policy and the applicable ELT member. In all respects, the T&E Policy will be applied consistently with applicable laws governing employee expense reimbursement. Any attempt to submit fraudulent expenses for reimbursement or other noncompliance with the T&E Policy may result in disciplinary action, up to and including immediate termination of employment.

Managers are expected to ensure compliance. Managers who consistently approve non-reimbursable expenses may also be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including immediate termination of employment.

Alternatives to Travel

Before planning a business trip, an employee should evaluate the need for travel and the number of employees required to make the trip. The employee should explore travel alternatives including conference calls or web meetings. All travel must be approved by your appropriate ELT member in writing prior to booking.

All employees are required to book air travel, car rental, rail, and lodging, including changes while en route, through Egencia. Compliance with this policy will be monitored by management and violations of this policy may result in disciplinary action, up to and including immediate termination of employment and non-reimbursement for these expenses. Contact Walker Vaughn (walker.vaughn@zayo.com) for questions about access to Egencia's online travel portal.

Exceptions to the Policy

Any exceptions to the T&E Policy must be pre-approved, in writing, at the ELT level and included with the expense reimbursement report.

III. Reimbursement Procedures

A. Method of Reimbursement

- All claims for reimbursement of expenses shall be made using Workday at <https://www.myworkday.com/zayo/> with all supporting business expense documentation attached
- Expense reports must be submitted within 30 days of the date incurred. Expense reports not submitted within the required timeframe will be denied.
- Employees will receive their reimbursement through payroll. Bi-monthly reminders are sent via email indicating pay period deadlines.

B. Business Expense Documentation

- For an expense to be permitted as a valid company business expense, an employee must substantiate each of the following:

- Amount of the expense
- Items expensed must include a detailed receipt. Credit card receipts or invoice summaries are not sufficient (e.g., for meals, the detailed bill must be provided)
- Detailed hotel folios are required. Booking confirmations, reservations or itineraries are not sufficient.
 - Multiple-day stays need to be broken down by day in the item detail section
 - Any charges not related to the daily room charge need to be separated out (i.e. meals, internet etc) and detailed receipts provided to support costs
- Date and location the expense was incurred
- Names and titles of all attending, (e.g., SELF, or John Smith, Director of Sales, Client Companies; Susan Doe, Marketing Envysion). The expense will be rejected if names are not included for any event or meal expense
- Business relationship and purpose of the expense (e.g., due diligence for project ABC)
 - A clear business purpose answers the following questions: who benefits from the transaction, where the purchased item is located (if applicable), and why the transaction was necessary. When the type of transaction may inherently imply a business purpose (e.g., toner, paper, pens, letterhead, etc.), it is still necessary to provide a business purpose that describes for which location or project within the department the merchandise was purchased.
- Expenses related to a single trip must be combined on one expense report
- Employees must document the above information in the fields provided in the expense report forms
- Employees will pay for flights through Egencia using a Zayo-branded corporate card
 - If a corporate card has been issued directly to the employee by Zayo, an expense report must be submitted. Egencia confirmation #s should be included in the memo field of the expense report.
 - If the employee has not been issued a corporate card, they will use a central billing card loaded into Egencia and no expense report is needed
- Each transaction can only be submitted by one employee for the total amount. Splitting of transactions is not allowed under this policy.

Receipt Requirements

Ordinarily, a request for airfare reimbursement should be made only after travel has taken place. However, when an advance purchase is required and the charge card payment is due for the charged airfare, reimbursement may be requested before travel has occurred. A receipt will not be required if the amount of the expense is under US/CAD/GBP/EUR25.00.

C. Responsibility of Expense Report

Regardless of who prepares and enters the expense data, the employee reporting the expenses must review the report for accuracy and is ultimately responsible for the data submitted and for submitting receipts. It is important that expenses are charged to the correct expense account code.

Refunds received from vendors or suppliers for expenses previously reimbursed by Zayo must be reported as negative amounts in the subsequent report and credited to the expense code where originally charged.

IV. Travel Expenses

A. Booking Travel - Egencia

All air travel, hotel, car rental and rail travel reservations, including en-route changes, must be booked concurrently through Zayo's corporate travel booking partner Egencia:

- Accessing <https://www.egencia.com>
- Contacting the official or designated travel office/agency for your respective company location
- For After-hours and Emergencies ONLY, by contacting the designated 24-hour reservation center
- All changes to plans or itinerary while en-route must be made through the local designated travel agency as provided on the traveler's itinerary

Streamlining the travel booking process through Egencia will enable Zayo to leverage spend across the Company to reduce rates, ensure employee safety, and provide the company with visibility into where in the world employees are at any given time in the event of an emergency.

Egencia's Website is: <https://www.egencia.com>

To complete your profile, please follow these simple steps once the link above is opened:

1. Click on "Login"
2. Select "Forgot user name and/or password"
3. Enter Zayo email address & captcha
4. Click "Reset my password"
5. Follow "Reset Password" link sent to email
6. Create password & follow prompts

*The name entered in your profile should match the name on your gov't issued ID used for travel in an attempt to avoid any delay through the TSA checkpoints. Once you have completed your traveler profile, it will be automatically entered into our system under the Zayo Corporate Profile.

Egencia can always be reached by phone at the following numbers, by the following regional emails, or through the numbers listed on the "Help" section of the website/mobile app for direct support as necessary (although booking through the website is cheaper than agent-assisted booking).

B. Air Travel

Bookings must be made at least 7 days in advance and, whenever possible, more than 14 days in advance. Travel outside of this window must only be for essential business matters and MUST be approved in writing IN ADVANCE by the appropriate ELT member. When making travel plans, the lowest logical fare should be selected (including the choice of a lower-priced non-refundable fare). All airfare must be booked using central billing shown in Egencia. Change fees for non-refundable airfare tickets and airfare standby fees are reimbursable expenses.

Lowest Airfare Definition

Travelers are required to book the lowest logical airfare that is determined using the following search criteria:

- Routing requires no more than one additional interim stop each way.
- Time Window: Departure/arrival must be no more than 2 hours before and 2 hours after the requested time. One stop and single connection flights are treated the same as non-stops for itinerary purposes and fare calculations
- Travelers may elect to fly a non-stop flight (over a lower-priced, connecting flight) provided that the additional cost is less than $100 per direction of travel, and/or a justifiable business purpose exists, and the connecting flight would have added more than a 2-hour extension of travel time each way

All exceptions to the travel requirements outlined herein are tracked, reviewed and reported on a monthly basis. Those abusing the policy or circumventing its intent will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination. It is expected that this air travel policy will be followed as outlined.

Class of Service (Domestic & International Flights)

Where air travel is necessary, travel must be booked utilizing the matrix below. Upgrades for other seating must be pre-approved in writing by the traveler's appropriate ELT member.

Ticketed Itinerary Flight Time	Non-SLT/ELT Traveler	SLT	ELT
One-way flights less than 3 hours	Economy Class	Economy Class	Premium Economy Class
One-way flights between 3 and 9 hours		Premium Economy Class	Business Class
One-way flights greater than 9 hours	Premium Economy Class	Business Class

Refunds for Unused Tickets

The employee and the employee's manager must collectively manage unused tickets to ensure they are used on a priority basis. It is the responsibility of each employee to use these tickets whenever possible to prevent the loss of the expense. Personal use of unused tickets is not allowed.

Frequent Flyer Award Programs

Employees may use frequent-flyer miles or points to upgrade from a reimbursable class of service to a higher class of service, as long as the original class of service is in line with the rules outlined in this policy. Employees may not purchase higher-cost airline tickets to receive preferred status on upgrades and/or additional frequent flyer miles.

The Company does not reimburse employees for the use of frequent-flyer miles, points or other personal coupons used to acquire airline tickets or hotel rooms for business travel. A purchased fare may not be submitted for reimbursement and then subsequently refunded and replaced by a ticket obtained with frequent flyer miles, points, etc. Any expenses related to the purchase of points or miles from an airline to enhance status level will not be reimbursed. The Company does not reimburse upgrade costs, whether purchased through mileage points or an upgrade kit.

Personal/vacation travel may be combined with business travel provided there is no additional cost to the company. Utilizing the central billing card for personal travel only is strictly prohibited.

Membership dues in frequent-flyer and or other travel programs are a personal expense and are not reimbursable.

C. Public and Local Transportation

Out-of-town travel may entail the use of ride-sharing services, taxis, buses, or other public transportation to go to and from the airport or for movement around a metropolitan area. Cities differ in the types of transportation that they offer for transportation to and from airports or around the city. Employees should choose the type of transportation that other similarly situated local business persons would use. A reasonable expense amount is no more than 10% higher than the cost of a standard taxi or ride-sharing service.

D. Personal Automobile Travel

Mileage Allowance, Parking and Toll Expenses for traveling distances during an employee's work week greater than the normal roundtrip distance between home and office will be reimbursed at the standard business mileage rate in accordance with local tax guidelines. Mileage expenses from home to the office cannot be reimbursed even if reporting to a local office that is not your home office.

When a personal automobile is used for transportation to an air or rail terminal, the actual mileage incurred in excess of normal commuting mileage (i.e., to/ from your home office) will be reimbursed at the standard business mileage rate in accordance with local tax guidelines. Reimbursement will only be made on a per trip basis. Valet parking services or optional services (e.g., car wash, oil change) offered are personal expenses and will not be reimbursed.

Zayo will reimburse reasonable parking costs and tolls when it is necessary for an employee to travel by personal or rental vehicle (leased or owned) for business purposes. Automobiles should not be parked for extended periods at air or rail terminals unless the combined cost of mileage and parking is less than other practical and available public transportation costs.

Where practical, two or more persons should travel in the same vehicle when several employees are traveling to the same location.

Reimbursement for monthly parking expenses at your normal work location is not allowed through the T&E Policy.

Insurance Coverage

Employees are required to maintain personal automobile insurance coverage in amounts of at least $100,000 combined single limit coverage or $50,000/$100,000 bodily injury and $25,000 property damage liability on personal automobiles owned or leased by them, if used in connection with Company business. Employees should never use any personally-owned or long-term leased automobile for Company business if the above minimum amounts of liability coverage are not in effect.

E. Rental Cars

Zayo has negotiated discounted rates with National & Enterprise (discount code XZ12748). Sign up for your Emerald Card at www.nationalcar.com/offer/XZ12748. National or Enterprise should be used in all situations where it is available. If their services are not available, the lowest-cost provider must be used.

When renting a vehicle domestically, the employee should decline any additional insurance coverage. If an employee elects additional insurance, it is considered a personal expense and will not be reimbursed.

When renting a vehicle in Europe, Canada or APAC, the employee shall purchase, and the related cost will be a reimbursable expense, the following additional insurance coverage:

- Loss Damage Waiver (or equivalent)
- Supplemental Liability Insurance (or equivalent)

Accident Procedures

If the employee is involved in an accident and the vehicle is damaged, or if the vehicle is vandalized or stolen, the rental company and local police must be notified immediately.

- Failure to notify both the rental car company and the police may negate some or all of the insurance benefits covered in the Company agreement.
- Always request a copy of the police and/or accident report.
- Keep all reports and paperwork from the incident in addition to the original rental agreement
- In the event that an employee's use of alcohol or other controlled substance is a contributing factor in an employee's involvement in an accident, disciplinary action will be taken

Optional Insurance Coverage - Rental car company charges for optional personal effects insurance (PEI), personal accident insurance (PAI), and liability insurance supplements (LIS) are considered personal expenses and will not be reimbursed.

Permissible Car Types

Employees renting for Company business must not rent a car larger than an intermediate four-door unless the number of persons traveling requires a larger car. When a larger car is required, a full-size car may be rented. Premium, luxury, convertible and four-wheel drive rentals will be reimbursed at the appropriate rate for an intermediate car.

Refueling and Other Miscellaneous Charges

Rental car company charges for refueling the car upon return are very expensive. Employees must make every effort to refuel the car before returning it. If it is offered and the employee expects to use a full tank of gasoline, he or she should elect the option of purchasing the initial tank of gasoline. Miscellaneous charges, including any GPS device, satellite radio, ski racks, car seats, cell phones or any Frequent Flyer surcharge are personal expenses and are not reimbursable by Zayo.

Traffic Tickets or Parking Fines

Any vehicle-related fines, traffic or parking tickets, or other penalties incurred by an employee while on company business are the responsibility of the employee. Traffic tickets issued to an employee while under the influence of alcohol or other controlled substance may result in disciplinary action.

F. Lodging

- Employees will be reimbursed for standard hotel rooms (i.e., no suites) at preferred lodging partners or the lowest available rate and not to exceed 10% of the annual US government per diem rates
- Reservations are to be made through Egencia and without regard to incentive programs
- Unless travel dates are certain, employees should not select the pre-purchase package rates; the cancellation penalties are severe should the employee need to cancel or change their reservation
- Hotel reservations should be made as far in advance as travel plans allow
- Unnecessary fees should be avoided by reviewing cancellation and early check-out policies when booking and by complying with those policies
- When checking in, employees should always ask if a lower “last minute” promotional rate is available. If a lower rate is available, ensure that the original, higher-cost reservation is canceled and credited to the Company to avoid duplicate charges
- Where external conferences or training events have been arranged, employees should obtain the conference rate if it is lower than the standard rate
- Reimbursable lodging includes the reasonable cost of a room and related taxes. Lodging (i.e., daily room rate), meals, and any other business expenses included on the hotel bill must be reported separately and properly coded on the expense report.
- Non-hotel room and tax charges require detailed receipts to support the costs
- Only hotel room and tax charges should be coded as a lodging expense
- Reimbursable lodging does not include payments for the use of personally owned property or lodging provided by colleagues, friends, relatives, etc. in lieu of using a hotel. Hotel (e.g., in room movie, concierge services, bottled water) or health club fees at the travel destination are personal expenses and are not reimbursable

G. Extended Stay Travel

Employee may opt for an extended stay between two business trips if the trips are in the same city/area, and the cost of all lodging, meals, and other expenses does not exceed flight costs back to the origin office. Documentation of this stay must be clear, specific, and submitted in conjunction with the expense report.

H. Meals

Employees are not paid a per diem when traveling for work. An employee will be reimbursed for actual meal costs that do not exceed $100 per day. On the day of travel, the meal allowance is not to exceed $75.

Group meals during travel must be paid for by the most senior member of the group. The total bill can not be split and the amount per person will be deducted from the daily allowance per person.

Any meals charged to a hotel are not lodging, but will count toward the daily maximum meal reimbursement amount per traveler.

I. Telecommunications

Telephone Charges

- Employees who travel with cellular phones should have plans that include regional or national long-distance calling and should use the least-cost choice between the cellular phone and a calling card
- Direct dialed long-distance calls from the hotel room are not reimbursable.
- Basic monthly usage charges for home phones are a personal expense and will not be reimbursed

Teleconferencing

The Company now provides all employees with a Zoom account. Employees should set up their accounts and use this service for all teleconferencing needs and international calls. To receive a Zoom account, please submit a Help Desk ticket in ServiceNow.

Cellular Phones, PDAs

- Zayo does not reimburse for the purchase of cellular phones, personal digital assistants (PDA), converged devices (combination cellular phone/PDA), car phones, batteries, chargers, or any other accessories, optional services, repairs, or any installation, activation, or termination charges associated with such devices

Cell phone or data plan reimbursement

Certain job functions may require the use of a cell phone/data plan. Where applicable, Zayo will reimburse employees in these job functions for a portion of their personal cell phone expense through a payroll stipend in the US and Canada and through an expense report for Europe

- Employees based in the US:

The maximum reimbursement for a cell phone plan and/or data plan combined is $40 (gross, including taxes) per month and will be issued through payroll stipend bi-monthly for eligible employees.

- Employees based in Canada:

The maximum reimbursement for a cell phone plan and/or data plan combined is $75 CAD (gross, including taxes) per month and will be issued through payroll stipend bi-monthly for eligible employees

- Employees based in Europe (other than France):

The maximum reimbursement for a cell phone plan and/or data plan combined is €50 (local currency) (gross, including taxes) per month. The actual reimbursement will be the lesser of the employee's monthly single line cell expenses for the month or €50, including tax.

Reimbursement requests and proper documentation evidenced by an Employee's monthly cell phone or data plan statement, identifying the Employee as the account holder, must be submitted within thirty (30) days of the date that the expense was incurred. Per Zayo's existing expense policy, cell phone expenses submitted more than thirty (30) days after expenses were incurred will not be reimbursed.

- Employees based in France

The existing cell phone reimbursement plan remains in place.

- International Calling

If an Employee incurs additional cellular phone charges for business purposes during international travel, such additional charges may be submitted for reimbursement with prior written manager approval. Employees should purchase a cost-effective temporary international plan to minimize international charges during travel. Additionally, Employees are required to utilize Zoom or other free conference calling services provided by the Company for long-distance and international calls.

High Speed Internet Access from Hotel or Airplane

- Zayo will reimburse the actual cost of high speed Internet access for employees from their hotel room up to a maximum of $15 per day
- Zayo will reimburse the actual cost of high speed in-flight airplane Internet access, domestic flights up to $20 per domestic flight, up to $50 per international flight.
- High speed access from any other location (e.g., airport, in flight airplane access, etc.) is not reimbursable

J. Laundry and Dry Cleaning

- Zayo will reimburse reasonable amounts of laundry and dry cleaning costs, only if the out-of-town assignment is seven or more consecutive nights
- Where the length of an assignment requires the regular use of laundries and dry cleaners, the employee should seek independent establishments outside of the hotel facilities to minimize costs

K. Gratuities

- Gratuities paid while out of town on business are reimbursed based on reasonable actual amounts spent
 - Gratuities are normally identified separately when paid to bellmen or airport porters
 - Gratuities for meals and taxis are normally included in the expenses for these categories
- The following are reasonable gratuities by category above and beyond personal expense
- Meals 15%-20%
 - Luggage assistance $1 per bag
 - Ride-sharing services or Taxi rides 15%-20%

IV. Other Business Expenses

A. Computer Software and Hardware

The purchase of computer hardware or software of any kind is not reimbursable through the T&E Policy. Computer hardware and software requests should be made to your manager and they will open an IT ticket in ServiceNow. Purchases must be made through the IT department to ensure that hardware and software are compatible with the Company's computer systems, support the Company's objectives, and have been approved in the Company's capital expenditures budget.

B. Entertainment of Clients and Other Business Acquaintances

Zayo will reimburse entertainment activities with clients and others who assist in business and relationship development for the Company. The entertainment should be reasonable, infrequent, benefit the Company, and not lavish or excessive. Examples of reimbursable activities include meals, sporting or cultural events, local golf, tennis or other outings. As a general guideline, the total cost of entertainment should not exceed $75 per person and is to be incurred and reported by the most senior-level member of the group. Executive written approval is required for spend exceeding the stated limit.

Zayo will only reimburse entertainment that is properly reported. This report must include the date, the activity, business purpose and the attendees (names, titles and relationship with the Company) in the fields provided on the expense report form.

Entertainment at locations that would reflect negatively on the Company (e.g., adult clubs) or that would exclude individuals because of race, gender, religion, etc., is against Company policy, unacceptable and not permitted under any circumstances.

C. Meals with Staff and Team Building Activities

Occasional entertainment of staff in connection with a specific business event or a lunch or dinner used for a specific purpose (e.g., project planning or document review) is a reimbursable expense. The charges associated with this type of staff meal or activity are to be incurred and reported by the most senior-level member of the group. As a general guideline, the total cost of activity should not exceed $50/person. These costs must be appropriately coded in WorkDay to "Employee Engagement, Meals."

The location for such entertainment, lunch or dinner should be appropriate and the expense should be reasonable. Excessive amounts of alcohol or expensive wines will not be reimbursed. Recurring entertainment of the same individuals (e.g., regular luncheons with the same staff members) is a personal expense and will not be reimbursed. Co-worker entertainment is not permitted. For any allowed activity, the expense report must include the date, the activity, business purpose and the names of attendees. Entertainment at locations that would reflect negatively on the Company (e.g., adult clubs) or that would exclude individuals because of race, gender, religion, etc., is against Company policy, unacceptable, and not permitted under any circumstances.

D. Gifts and Rewards

There are no occasions when the cost of a gift given by an individual employee, or by a group of employees to another employee or relative thereof, would be reimbursed by the Company. Gifts, including birthday, shower and going away gifts are the personal expense of the employee(s) giving the gift and will not be reimbursed. Bereavement flowers require ELT written pre-approval.

Pursuant to our Code of Ethics, employees shall not provide gifts, favors, or entertainment to customers or vendors, except in conformity with accepted business standards, generally accepted ethical standards and in compliance with any applicable laws. Any gifts provided to customers or vendors should be of sufficiently limited value (generally less than $50.00) that they could not be construed as an attempt to influence the customer or vendor and that their disclosure would not compromise or embarrass the Company and shall be accurately described and recorded in Company's accounting records.

Rewards may be given to employees by senior management, as long as the rewards are given occasionally. Due to the difficulty in tracking and the administrative burden associated with the distribution of cash equivalent awards (ex. VISA gift cards, checks, American Express Gift Cheques, Western Union Gift Grams), their use is not allowed. However, if used, these awards must have written ELT Approval. These awards are taxable and must be reported to Payroll, regardless of the amount. Non-cash rewards (t-shirts, hats, mugs, vendor-specific gift cards) with a value of $25 or more are also taxable and must be reported to Payroll.

E. Subscriptions and Publications

Personal subscriptions to newspapers and magazines in the name of an employee are considered a personal expense and will not be reimbursed. Business publications used in the course of business (LexisNexis, major marketing subscriptions, etc.) must be approved by the ELT in writing. Similarly, expenses and fees related to maintaining professional licenses and continuing professional education (CPE) must also be approved in writing by the ELT in advance. Whenever possible, employees should pursue free CPE courses/credits if available or self-study courses offered online or locally by service providers.

Offices subscribe to general business periodicals, trade journals, and other publications, many of which are now online via the Company's zHub site. All subscriptions must be approved in writing by an authorized ELT.

F. Office Supplies and Equipment

Office supplies are not reimbursable pursuant to the T&E Policy unless approved by a manager. Office supplies may be ordered through the Administrative Assistant or equivalent for offices that do not have an Administrative Assistant. Office equipment is not reimbursable pursuant to the T&E Policy. All requests for printers, copiers, fax machines, etc. should be sent to your manager who will open an IT ticket in ServiceNow.

G. Uniforms and Clothing

No clothing expenses of any kind will be reimbursed.

Appendix A – Non-Reimbursement Expenses

- Charitable contributions
- Office equipment (including copiers, scanners, faxes, printers, etc.). All equipment requests must go through your manager, who will open an IT ticket in ServiceNow
- Software - all software requests must go through your manager and then IT
- All dues and assessments associated with private club memberships
- The cost of a commute of the same or lesser distance than the distance to and from the office
- Billings for unused portions of food minimums, or other minimum use charges, at a luncheon club, country club, etc.
- Thefts of personal property from an automobile, hotel room, office or home office being used for Company business (this expense should be covered by the employee's personal insurance)
- Moving traffic violations or parking fines
- Costs incurred for out-of-policy business expenses (e.g., use of non-preferred air carriers when comparable travel is available on preferred carriers, violation of the air travel class rules)
- In-room movies or video games
- Laundry and dry cleaning for travel requiring fewer than seven consecutive nights away from home
- Newspapers and magazines
- LinkedIn subscriptions
- Car washes, oil changes, and other maintenance or repair services for personal or rental cars
- Enhancements to company-owned fleet vehicles
- Damage to an automobile used for Company business
- Personal entertainment
- Briefcases, garment bags, suitcases, or computer bags
- Travel, life or baggage insurance
- Unreasonably costly expenditures (e.g., expensive wines and liquors, meals at very expensive restaurants)
- Substitutions (e.g., if lodging is provided by others, hotel costs not incurred may not be used for other purposes)

- Expenditures that are personal in nature (e.g., haircuts, house, child or pet-sitting, lawn care, etc.)
- Car service when the total cost exceeds the amount that would have been incurred by parking at the airport will not be reimbursed beyond the cost of parking.
- Limo service
- Season tickets to sporting and cultural events
- Meals with clients or other persons, including family members or friends that have no direct business purpose
- Entertainment at: adult clubs; clubs or locations that exclude employees because of race, gender, etc.; or at clubs or other locations that have the potential to reflect negatively on the Company
- Holiday greeting cards sent to Company personnel and the related postage
- Annual credit card fees
- ATM fees
- Political contributions
- Membership dues in airline clubs
- Membership dues in frequent-traveler award programs (e.g., AMEX Rewards Program)
- Home internet service (US & Canada)
- Cell phone service (except as defined in section IV. I - Telecommunications)
- Other costs and expenses not specifically identified as reimbursable in this policy
